doors, the Tub-Master Rigid Shower Curtain replaces the conventional dripping, flapping curtain or space consuming by-pass shower doors. Its hinged vertical panels neatly fold flat against the wall, not only in bathtubs and showers, but also in curved or Neo-angle showers. This sleek line of shower and bath closures simplifies the bathing routine for parents of toddlers, as well as for home health aides, by offering complete access to the bathtub or shower. Tub-Master Rigid Shower Curtains also offer bathers a wonderful open feeling as they soak in their tubs.

Accessorizing your tub or shower with a Tub-Master fold-down bench, white thermoplastic grab bars and its adjustable height, detachable shower head can also promote independence, comfort and bathing safety, the Otlando manufacturer adds.

Finally, by using another novel line shown at the KBIS, you can triple the accessible towel hanging space in each bathroom and help eliminate some of the most common aggravations in most households: soggy towels and damp sportswear left on the floor.

Consider the Hinge-It® line both a door and a floor solution. For one thing, you won't have to spoil hollow or solid wood doors with screws and nails required to install most racks and hooks. No nails and screws in the walls, either. Simply tap up the door's hinge pins, position the brackets of one of several tubular, steel rod or wood Hinge-It racks over the hinges, then tap the pins back into place. In minutes, you can add up to nine linear feet of multi-level towel racks to even the smallest bathroom, all concealed behind the door without consuming an inch of wall or floor space.

Toddlers can drape towels and damp swimwear over the lower rods without stretching. There's even room for hand laundry to dry on a heated brass Hinge-

It EuroRack without cluttering up the bathroom.

Indianapolis based Hinge-It Corporation offers an entire family of towel racks, jumbo hooks, coat pegs, shoe pockets and clothes butlers as gifts, storage solutions, accessibility upgrades or conflict resolu-

terms of streamlining the rest of your life. By asking better performance of your home's floors and doors and using a Universal Design approach, you can make your home safer, more accessible, more supportive and more time and space efficient.
