Gallery Walk will show Wilkes-Barre's treasures, pleasures

The Cultural Council of Luzerne County will sponsor the Downtown Gallery Walk October 10 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. to celebrate National Arts & Humanities Month. Chairperson for the event is Petsy Huyghe.

The walk will begin at Wilkes University's Sordoni Gallery on South River Street, which will exhibit the private collection of the Sordoni family. From the Sordoni, walkers go to the Gallery at Marquis Art & Frame on South Main Street (location #2), then north on South Main to the temporary gallery at the Midtown Village (#3), then to Cartoon Collections (#4).

The next gallery will be behind Revco next to WYOU TV, where the Cider Painters, will exhibit (#5). Next door, the lobby of the Wilkes-Barre Center (#6) will also feature several local artists.

Next is the Kirby Center, where a downstairs gallery will house a mixed media presentation from the permanent collection of the MacDonald Art Gallery of College

Misericordia (#7) and the main level (#8) will house the works of local artist John Pacovsky, with background music provided by teachers and students of the NE Pennsylvania Music Teachers' Association.

Across the Square is the next location, the lobby of the Ramada Hotel (#9), featuring local artist Judy Hatcher and her students. On the northwest side of the Square is Public Square Commons (#10), whose lobby off West Market will house a display.

Location 11 on North Franklin is the Kirby Health Center lobby (#11) while location #12 is a display area in front of and inside the Blue Cross building on East Union St. King's College's Student Activities Center on North Main is Location #13 in the Kilburn room, showing "Art In My Heart and King's On My Mind" by Dallas artist Sue Hand.

For more information, call the Cultural Council at 826-6111.
