For nearly 40 years, the Women of Rotary have made available wheelchairs and other items for temporary use at no charge. The program is administered by the library and information is available there. Sally, Stager, left, and Joan W. Martin presented the check to Martha Wheeler, library director.

Corrections

• Gil Griffiths was incorrectly identified as the assistant principal of Dallas High School in an article in last week's issue. He is assistant superintendent of schools. Kathleen McCarthy is Dallas High School assistant principal.

• Dave McLaughlin Smith, an intermediate mathematics teacher at Lake-Noxen Elementary School, was not included in a list of teachers nominated to Who's Who that appeared in last week's issue. The publisher of the list inadvertently left his name off the press release on which the article was based.

• Tom Yoniski, an assistant football coach for the Dallas High School varsity team, was incorrectly identified as Scott Francis in a photo caption last week.

Township makes last payment on guiderail maintenance

By KYLIE SHAFFERKOEETTER Post Staff

TRUCKSVILLE - The Kingston Township Board of supervisors has approved final payment in the amount of $31,144 to the Safeguard Construction Company, Inc., for guiderail maintenance. At their Nov. 13 meeting, they also authorized the manager to order a 1997 Ford Crown Victoria police car, valued at $21,000.

A motion to amend the winter maintenance agreement with PennDOT on Pioneer Avenue from Druid Hills to Overbrook Rd. was granted as well as the approval for the Center Street compost Site on Sundays 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In other business, Daniel Tuck of Pinear Ave. asked the board if it had a set date to fix the gutters on his street. Tuck also wanted to know if Kingston Twp. would try to restrict 18-wheel trucks from using Pinear Ave. He commended the police department for stopping speeders on his street. Jeffrey Box, the Township Manager, said that although there was no set date, the board was planning to repair the gutters. Paul Sabol, of the board, said no answer could be given about restricting trucks.

Bernard Jones of Rice St. asked the board if it had any new information concerning the two properties on Rice St. that Jones considers an eyesore. Jones has been trying to get the decrepit buildings torn down since 1989. The board had no new information.

Reading

can read with or without assistance. They really enjoy getting a book and writing their names inside the cover."

The parent volunteers are a very vital and active part of RIF. Many come to read stories and spark the interest of the students. "The parents have been wonderful. They always want to come back," said Pesta.

RIF encourages children to become lifelong readers by building self-esteem and involving the most important people in their lives in the learning process. "First of all, reading in itself gives self esteem. Just the knowledge that they can read all sorts of books makes them feel better. My own daughter was so proud as she got better and better," said Donna Hartman, the PTA president.

"The parents have been wonderful. They are eager to read to the kids."

Cathy Pesta
RIF coordinator

RIF does not leave out the fourth and fifth graders. "They get a gift certificate to buy a book at the book fair if they read four books a semester. We try to get the older kids to read different kinds of books. But, we try not to push them too much because we don't want to interfere with their other school work," explained Hartman.

This year at Lehman-Jackson elementary, the PTA RIF committee will bring in over 984 books to the students.
