many types until 1954. This collection features the floral designs from the 1920's through the 1940's. Almost any flower you can name was used in the decoration on the pottery, from apple blossom pattern through Wisteria. It is highly collectible today, largely because of the many types of pieces made, and all the floral patterns you can collect, such as ashtrays, baskets, bookends, bowls, candlestick, cidersets, compotes, cookie jars, creamers and sugars, flower pots, jardinières and pedestals, pitchers, planters, tea sets, umbrella stands, urns, wall pockets and vases in various sizes and shapes. Pottery from every era of Roseville production even its utility ware attest to an unwavering dedication to quality and artistic merit. They will be at the library until April 11.

New books at the library: "Chromosome" by Robin Cook is a medical thriller written with bold strokes. Notorious underworld figure Carlo Franconi is gunned down and his mafioso competitors become prime suspects. Suspicions are fueled when his body disappears from the city morgue before an autopsy.

"Sanctuary" by Nora Roberts is thrilling novel, seductive and suspenseful tale of dangerous liaisons and family betrayals. Sanctuary.

Successful photographer Jo Ellen Hathaway thought she had escaped that house long ago. After the shattering disappearance of her mother, she spent lonely years there.

"The Killer's Game" by Jay Bonansinga is the story of Joe, a professional assassin, a hitter who's made a career out of killing only those who deserve to be killed.

His profession isn't a problem for him; what he has a problem with is his stomach. The doctor tells him he has cancer, months to live.

Historical dinner April 18

The Wyoming Historical & Geological Society will hold its 139th Annual Dinner Meeting on April 18, at the Top of the 80's, Exit 41 South, Rts. 81 & 93, West Hazleton. Robert A. Janosov, President of the Society's Board of Directors, will preside.

This year the Society will commemorate the 100th Anniversary of the Lattimer Massacre, one of the great tragedies in American labor history. The Massacre occurred just outside Hazleton on September 10, 1897. The featured speaker will be Dr. George A. Turner, Professor Emeritus from Bloomsburg University. His presentation is titled, "The Day of Blood at Lattimer: Causes and Consequences of a Massacre". Dr. Turner was a member of the history department at Bloomsburg for 31 years. He is President of the Columbia County Historical Society, author of several articles on the Lattimer Massacre and a recently edited book, Civil War Letters from Soldiers and Citizens of Columbia County, Pennsylvania.

The dinner will feature the presentation of the Society's Annual Historic Preservation Awards. Awards will be given to individuals and institutions who have preserved or restored historic buildings in Luzerne County.

The affair begins at 5:30 p.m. with a cash bar cocktail reception followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. A short business meeting will be followed by the awards ceremony and program. Robert A. Janosov, President of the Society's Board of Directors, is chairing the event.

The public is welcome to attend. For more information or to make reservations, contact the Society at 823-6244 before April 14.
