Book fair at Dallas Elementary

The Dallas Elementary School recently hosted a Scholastic Book Fair in the school library. Aided by their parents and PTO volunteers, the students were able to make purchases from a wide assortment of paperback books, posters, activity kits, and school supplies. Profits from the Book Fair are used by the library to purchase books, computer software, audio-visual materials, and to host programs in the library. Former Speaker of the House

Shouldn't your advertising be, too?

Love him or hate him, Tip O'Neill knew one thing — when the votes are counted, it doesn't matter what people who live outside your district think about you. That's as true in the Back Mountain as it is in Back Bay, so if you're planning campaign advertising for a local office, put it where it will count the most...in The Dallas Post.

The Dallas Post is all local, all the time. Our readers are among the most influential and active in the region, so getting their vote might mean getting even more — their influence with friends and neighbors.

Sure, the city papers can claim more circulation, but what good does it do if the readers live in Wilkes-Barre, Pittston or Mountaintop? Not a bit.

Put your advertising where the votes are — in The Dallas Post. Call today for low rates and other information.
