NE JR Players, Wyoming Valley's non-profit theatre company, will conduct a garage sale/fundraiser Sat., May 3 from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the historic Risley barn, Lehman Ave. in Dallas. The group has collected great toys, household items, housewares, furniture pieces, clothing and other items, including a very old child's piano, stainless steel sinks, heavy duty toys, leather handbags, prom gowns and a basketball hoop.

Members of the group will stroll the grounds in costume and offer a craft table for children and face painting. All proceeds will go to a general fundraising campaign and will be used to help purchase a traveling sound system which will allow the players to perform children's theatre in many more communities.

To reach the sale, take Huntsville Rd. from the center of Dallas. Lehman Ave. is the second right, directly across from the Back Mountain Memorial Library.

Breaking into 'the biz' at Meadows

It was lights, camera, action with the action provided by "extras" from The Meadows in Dallas for the videotaping of The Meadows Manor commercial which started playing on area stations this week. At the time of the taping several weeks ago, occupancy of the new facility was just beginning, so Meadows Manor manager, Barbara Williams made the decision to cast residents from The Meadows in the commercial. VideoGuard Productions of Forty Fort was in charge of production.

which stresses the facility's "homelike" atmosphere, assisted living services and delicious food. When taping the commercial, many of the Meadows "extras" had to do one thing over and over as the dining room shots were recorded: sit with delicious desserts in front of them and not eat them until the call was given for "action!"

By all accounts, the several hours it took to tape the commercial at The Meadows Manor passed quickly and a number of "extras" wonder when their next casting call will come!
