

'Whaletales' told at Dallas Elementary

An enrichment program entitled "Whaletales" was recently presented to the student body at Westmoreland Elementary school. The presenter was Stuart Goldman, who provided informative as well as entertaining research information concerning whales and dolphins. The assembly portion included slides taken by Goldman during his participation in whale research around the world. Whale songs, Orca and dolphin vocalizations, music and artifacts were presented during the assembly. Goldman presented separate workshops to each class throughout the day.
