Adrienne E. Camp will attend Cornell Univ. in fall

Adrienne E. Camp, a recent graduate of Dallas High School has decided to attend Cornell University next fall where she will pursue a biology pre-med program and also compete in Division I soccer. Camp chose Cornell because of its excellent academic reputation.

ADRIENNE CAMP

Camp was one of two soccer players from NE Pennsylvania to be selected to the Pennsylvania All-State Soccer Team. As a captain of both Dallas High School's girls soccer and basketball teams, she was selected to the Wyoming Valley Conference First Team All-Stars in both sports, and selected as "player of the year". Adrienne lettered for four years in both soccer and basketball, and was the Dallas-MVP in both sports.

As an Ivy League university, Cornell competes with major colleges and universities in the Northeastern U.S. Randy May, the Big Red's women's soccer coach, helped persuade Camp to attend the New York school. In addition to its excellent academic reputation, May indicated that Cornell has been one of the top ranked women's soccer teams, finishing six times in the top 20 and he looks forward to Adrienne's contribution to the team.

Camp, a member of the National Honor Society, was in the top five percent of her class, with a 3.5 GPA.

She was elected to the Student Government; played basketball for the Lady Pace Setter Athletic Club; the Dragon Soccer Travel Team; and volunteered for church and community programs. Camp was the recipient of numerous academic and athletic awards including the National Council of Youth Salute and the PIAA scholar-athlete awards.

Students place in top 10 of nation

Dallas High School students, Amanda and Kathryn Palmatier and their teacher Maryann Storz, recently returned from the National History Day Competition that was held at the University of Maryland where they represented the state of Pennsylvania.

Their project, Purple Triangles: A Test of Faith, which traced the persecution of the Jehovah Witnesses in Nazi Concentration camps, made the runoffs which spotlighted the top 10 entries in each division. In final competition they were ranked ninth in the Nation.

Students from all 50 states emerged on Washington D.C. to compete for scholarships and awards in historical categories. Amanda and Kathryn spent their time meeting students from across the country, exchanging state pins and discussing the events.

While visiting the Holocaust Museum, they were honored by having their project research and pictures accepted into the museum's archives.

The entire trip was a highlight to many months of grueling work and serious competition.

All agreed it was a rewarding academic experience that they would gladly do over again.
