gether," he said. "I'm hitting the ball better and getting my confidence back. I'll need my best game to have a chance to win."

If hours on the golf course mean anything, Kilduff and Klimek should be in the medal hunt next week. Both golfers play and practice everyday, usually together. "I've become a lot more serious about the game in the last year," said Klimek, who has lowered his average by four strokes to a 74. "I usually hit balls for one or two hours in the morning and then play 18 holes. I also practice while I play."

Kilduff will use a Collegiate Player's Tournament in New Hampshire as a warm-up for the State Amateur. "I want to make sure that I'm prepared," he explained. "I like to play a tournament right before an important event."

"I'm really looking forward to playing in the amateur," said Kilduff. "It will be even more exciting this year to have Tom there, too."

Yacht Club's racing at mid-point

The Harveys Lake Yacht Club's racing season came to its mid-point on Sun., July 20. The participants were met by blue skies and light to moderate winds approaching seven to 10 knots. The race course was a Modified Gold Cup Configuration five miles in length. The first sailboat, captained by Joan Williams, crossed the finish line in one hour and 50 minutes.

Commodore David Delaney posted the following handicap results:

First place went to Joan Williams and Jane Harter who crossed the line with a tremendous lead over the fleet despite overcoming a 360 degree penalty. The experience and the ability to read wind shifts contributed to the success of the Williams/Harter team. Second place went to Drs. Lane Giddings and Fred Shaefer; third place, Dr. Henry Steuben, sailing a Phantom; fourth, Rep. Kevin and Beth Blaum; fifth, Dr. John Alaimo and Ellen; sixth Bob Hall and Barbara Aston. The Hall/Aston team was called back because of a premature start, this necessitated a restart penalty. The Comet Class winner was the Williams/Harter team, second place: the GiddingsShaefer team and third place went to the Alaimo team. The race committee with chairman, Frank Wadas, was assisted by Sam Alaimo, John and Chris Ryder.
