Crestwood." Piasta, who also serves as president of the senior class, knows he will play a key role if the Mounts are to rebound with a victory this weekend. "I like being in charge," he said. "As a captain, I need to pump everybody else up. But, I also have to keep my cool so everybody knows I've got things under control." "He is a take-charge guy," said Jackson. "In order for us to be successful, he needs to be successful. He's gotten better throughout the early portion of the season and is ready for that challenge."

"I like being in charge. As a captain, I need to pump everybody else up."
