Free seminar on outpatient eye procedures to be held March 18

Are you tired of depending on glasses or contacts to see things in the distance? There are two exciting new procedures known as PRK (Photorefractive Keratectomy) and LASIK (Laser In-Situ Keratomileusis) being done by the most highly trained doctors in the industry at Northeastern Eye Institute in Seranton. They are outpatient procedures which use a cool beam of light to gently reshape the cornea, unlike the incisional technique called RK.

These procedures are a simple, safe and effective way to correct nearsightedness and astigmatism.

To find out more about the PRK and LASIK procedures call Dr. Curtis Goodwin at 675-3627 or plan to attend a free seminar at Dr. Goodwin's office, 170 N. Memorial Highway, Shavertown. The seminar will be held March 18, at 6 p.m. The guest speaker that evening will be Dr. Stephen Pasucci, director of the laser center at Northeastern Eye Institute.

Family and friends plan to celebrate Cindy Parrs' life

Cindy Parrs, Feb. 22, 1960 - Jan. 7, 1998, made art in her life and made an art of her life. She was a talented local potter, who worked her art in her own Dallas studio and mentored many local artists who became skilled pro-

ing, rock and ice climbing and rollerblading. And in characteristic fashion, Cindy shared her skills in skiing and windsurfing by teaching these sports.

In her pursuit of art and adventure, Cindy traveled to Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, where she earned her bachelor's degree in geography and recreation and studied pottery under master artists from Japan. After graduation, she traveled extensively throughout the U.S. and Europe.

Not only was Cindy a prolific potter and a dedicated teacher, but she also designed and constructed her own state of the art kiln, in which she and her students fired hundreds of their original works of art.

Cindy's talent and enthusiasm extended beyond her studio. During the winter months, she sailed the Atlantic coast from Annapolis to the Bahama Islands, delivering sailboats to various ports along the way. When she wasn't sailing boats, she used her art as an expert woodfinisher to make her vessels seaworthy.

Not only was Cindy a practitioner and teacher of art, she was also an avid sportswoman. She had a great love and enthusiasm for outdoor sports, including downhill and cross country skiing, windsurfing, mountain biking, rock and ice climbing and rollerblading. And in characteristic fashion, Cindy shared her skills in skiing and windsurfing by teaching these sports.

On the occasion of her 38th birthday, Cindy's absence is keenly felt by her family, her friends, her students and the many others who were touched by the art of Cindy's life. On hearing of Cindy's passing, one of her former art students recalled her uniqueness and her passion for all of life's experiences. She was, he said, "like a good pot...centered with a strong base. She was successful in making the most of her short life."

In celebration of Cindy's life, her parents will host a gathering at their Dallas home this coming May for all those who loved and admired Cindy and her many arts, and who would like to share their memories with her family and friends.
