7th grade class raises $1,000 for missions

Many parents think middle school children can't make a difference because they are too immature and don't take anything seriously. My class and I have proven that statement is wrong. Twenty-six students of Gate of Heaven School have raised $1,000 and have donated that money to the missions.

The $1,000 is divided into $10 each and given evenly to 100 randomly picked countries around the world, such as Guam, Haiti and China.

We raised the money in an old-fashioned way, mostly through bake sales, raffles and class parties. The last and most simple way we raised the money is that almost every day we get some change from everyone in the class. This mainly took place in the morning.

We hope adults realize what middle school students can do to raise money for people in need. All you really have to do is call upon 26 seventh graders who will do the job in just one school year!
