

Adam Nicely to study at L.A. Film Studios Center

Adam Nicely of Sterling Avenue in Dallas has been accepted into the Fall 1998 class of the Los Angeles Film Studios Center. The program is sponsored by the Coalition for Christian Colleges and Universities which consists of 91 Colleges and Universities of the Arts and Sciences which are committed to educational excellence and to the centrality of Christ to all facets of campus life. Thirty-six students will have an introductory exploration of the work and workings of mainstream Hollywood entertainment.

ADAM NICELY

Nicely will have a 20 to 24 hour internship experience in some aspect of the Hollywood film or television industry.

He will also study "Inside Hollywood", "Film in Culture", "Introduction to Filmmaking", and "Screenwriting".

Nicely is a senior at Messiah College, Grantham, PA studying

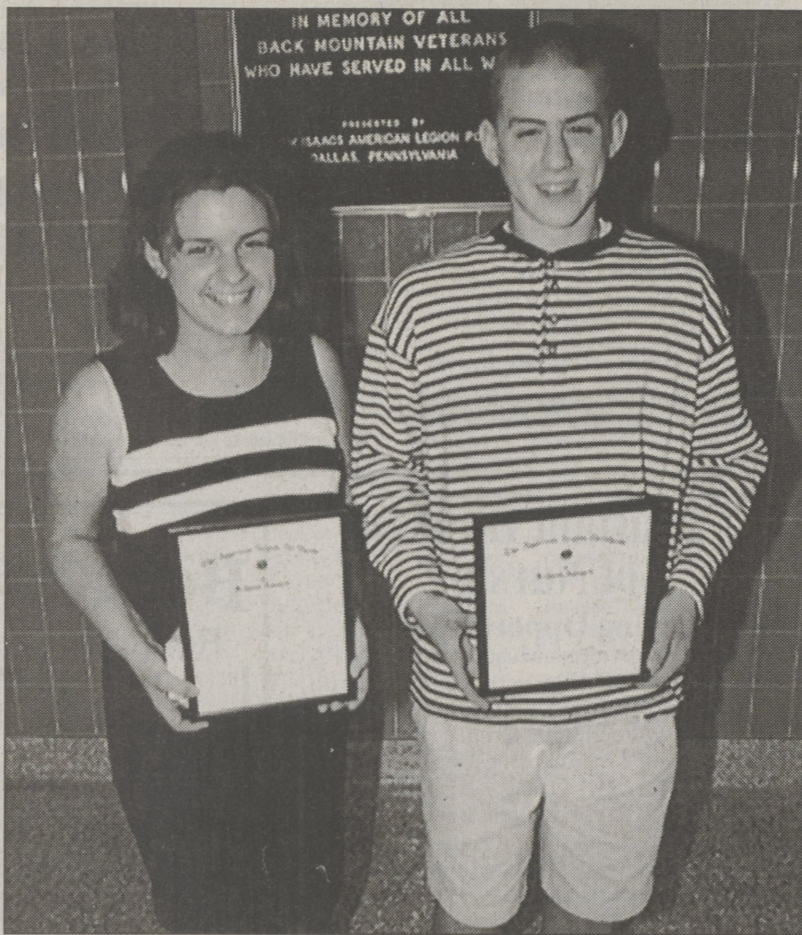

Communications with concentration in Film. During his junior year, he studied at Temple University in Philadelphia in cooperation with Messiah College.

In the summer of 1997 Nicely worked as a Production Assistant for Utterly Beloved Productions, Philadelphia.

This job involved working on the set of "Beloved" a film for Touchtone, a division of the Disney Corporation. Nicely assisted with location sets, knockdowns, landscaping, errands, deliveries, etc. "Beloved", starring Oprah Winfrey and Danny Glover will be in theaters this fall.

The Los Angeles Film Studios Center is one of many efforts to start to bring about change in the content of Hollywood's film and television product.

Started in January of 1991, the LAFSC's ultimate mission is, "to make Christian persons in the film industry, preferably in positions of decision-making capacity, and to simultaneously encourage the development of an enlightened and discriminating viewing population."

Patricia Carr named girls basketball coach at Sem

Patricia Carr of Dallas has been named head girls basketball coach at Wyoming Seminary.

A 1976 graduate of Bishop Hoban High School, Carr was captain of the girls basketball team for two years, MVP in her senior year, third in scoring and first in rebounding in the league. She led the team to the state championships in her junior and senior years.

PATRICIA CARR

Carr won a four-year athletic scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown where she continued her outstanding career.

A four-year varsity starter and captain in her senior year, Carr still holds two school records: first in career rebounding and 14th in career scoring.

Carr was named College All American in 1980 and achieved a college career record of 85-16.

Her team was ranked number one in the nation during her junior and senior years.

More recently, Carr has coached at Gate of Heaven School in Dallas and Bishop O'Reilly High School in Kingston.

At Gate of Heaven she coached her team to a record of 34-5.

At Bishop O'Reilly, her junior varsity team ended the 1997-98 season with a record of 38-8, and the varsity squad placed fourth in District 2 playoffs.

Bucknell Junior College alumnae reunite

Nearly 30 alumnae from Bucknell University Junior College (BUJC), precursor to Wilkes University, recently celebrated their annual summer reunion at a luncheon held in Weckesser Hall, South Franklin Street, Wilkes-Barre.

Each year, women from the classes of 1938 through 1950 gather at the reunion to honor Dr. Norma Sangiuliano Tyburski of Mountaintop, former dean of women and instructor in dramatics and speech at Wilkes. This year, alumnae from as far as Eustis, FL and Beaulaville, NC attended the reunion.

At the close of the reunion, the University's alumni association presented each woman with a silk floral arrangement and a copy of "Recollections of BUJC and Nascent Wilkes," a booklet of BUJC memoirs written by Dr. Charles Reif, professor emeritus, biology department, Wilkes University.

The following Back Mountain residents attended: Mary H. Ward, Dallas; Marion Frantz, Trucksville; Louise Hazeltine, Trucksville; Janet Phillips, Trucksville; Ruth Voelker, Shavertown and Dr. Phyllis Eichler Berger, Dallas.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL

It's a subject too big to fit in one issue! Reader interest in back-to-school news—especially bus schedules and home room assignments—is incredible. But it's not all ready at the same time, and it won't fit in one issue, so we'll publish Back-To-School across three issues. And since we offer special rates to run in them, your ad message really hits home, at low cost.

These are the biggest-selling papers of the year, with newsstand sales 500 copies or more higher than usual. Even though we raise the quantity substantially, many stores still sell out.

Publication Date: August 19th
