Members of the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital Auxiliary are selling tickets for the 30th annual Starlight Ball raffle. The raffle is held in conjunction with the Starlight Ball scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 21 at Genetti Hotel and Convention Center, Wilkes-Barre. Gifts From Above to participate in ministry

Beginning Nov. 1, Gifts From Above in Dallas will be participating in a nationwide ministry through Christian retail stores called Bibles for Prisoners. Between now and Christmas, customers are encouraged to bring their unused and old Bibles into the store, where they will be distributed to local chaplains and jail and prison ministries. As an incentive and "thank you", customers will receive a $5 discount coupon good toward a new Bible from participating publishers. Coupons must be redeemed by Dec. 24. This makes the fourth year that Christian stores have joined together for this project. Jim Powell, Director, notes, "This national event not only meets a pressing need locally, but it sets participating stores like Gifts From Above apart from other commercial operations in town. It clearly shows the ministry heart of Gifts from Above."

Tell our advertisers you saw them in The Post. They'll appreciate it, and so will we.
