Fundraising campaign for rec center to kick off

BACK MOUNTAIN - The Back Mountain Recreation Association is kicking off its first capital campaign this month. The campaign hopes to raise $300,000 by September 1 to pay for 80 acres of land in Lehman Township that, if all goes well, will become the site of a regional recreation center. The association has held the land for six months while a series of environmental and engineering tests are performed to make sure the acreage is suitable for a recreation center. The campaign will be broken into three phases: First, a general campaign soliciting local households; then small local businesses will be asked for donations and finally major corporations. Gil Griffiths, association president, said the campaign is intended to keep the financial burden off the municipalities. The $4 million recreation center will house a gym, meeting room, walking area and include parking. Outside facilities will include soccer and baseball fields. Griffiths said if all goes as planned the center could be open as soon as September, 2000.

Dallas special education will be audited in April

DALLAS - In April the Dallas School District will have to submit to an extensive audit of its special education program.

Lorraine Kotsull informed the board at Monday's work session of the federally mandated process that will begin with a three-day visit from a PA Department of Education's Bureau of Special Education team that will come to the district for "compliance monitoring."

The team will review approximately 70 student record files throughout the district to begin their assessment. From there the team will visit some of those students and their teachers, interview parents and review the administration. Counselors, instructional support staff and others will also be interviewed to check their working knowledge of procedures.

Kotsull told the board the team will also check the faculty, room size, age variances, inclusionary practices, extra-curricular activities and assisted technology. In addition, curriculum, confidentiality of record keeping, transition services and graduation programs will be looked at among other things.

"We've been working since last year going through every file to make sure we have all the necessary pieces," said Gil Griffiths, superintendent, who believes the district will fare well. "It's good if used as a positive tool for improvement. It's a good viable piece we could look to for information."

In other news, two Dallas High School baseball coaches have given up their combined salary of $4,400 so the district could purchase an outdoor batting cage. Varsity coach John Bittner and assistant coach Steve Federici are both Dallas High School graduates. "I think it's commendable for both coaches to think so much of the program to do this," said Griffiths.

Elementary recess time has been shortened. In order to obtain instructional time the district has cut playtime from two 30 minute sessions to two 15 minute sessions. Griffiths said students will pick up 62.5 more hours of instruction a year. The change will go into effect in September.

The east wing of the new Gerald J. Wycallis Elementary — which houses the administration offices, cafeteria and art rooms — is 75 percent complete. The wing will be completed June 28. The center of the building, which houses the classrooms, is 50 percent completed and will also be finished June 28.

The west wing, which houses the library and gym, is 25 percent completed and anticipated to be ready for use no later than July 1.

The board will only meet once next month, on April 12.
