

Prison volunteers to be honored

The regular volunteers who serve at the State Correctional Institution at Dallas will be honored Tuesday, April 20. The program will take place in the chapel and feature a variety of speakers.

Representing the inmate population will be Kenneth "Saboor" Porter, a member of the Islamic religious community at the State facility. Staff speakers will include W. James Pall (Facility Chaplaincy Program Director and Volunteer Coordinator, Norm

Demming, inmate Program Manager, Thomas Stachelek, Deputy Superintendent Centralized Services and David H. Larkins, Superintendent.

Music for the program will be provided by "Firestorm", an inmate band, and the Food Service/Culinary Department will provide refreshments.

Last year 100 volunteers involved in 18 separate activities provided nearly 3,000 volunteer hours of service.

MOVERS AND SHAKERS

Lori Hackenberg, RT, RDMS, RVT, staff sonographer in the ultrasound/vascular lab department at the Penn State Geisinger Wyoming Valley Medical Center, was recently notified that she has passed the registry examination for vascular technology. The examination is administered by the American Registry of Diagnostic Medical Sonographers (ARDMS).

A graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Technology with an associate degree in radiography, she also earned a certificate in ultrasound at Lancaster General Hospital, Lancaster.

A resident of Dallas, she is the daughter of Shirley and Dennis Hackenberg of Middleburg.

Lillian Bartley, a medical office assistant at the Penn State Geisinger Health Group in Dallas, has been named employee of the month for March. She has been associated with the health system for the past nine years as a medical office assistant and in the emergency department registration area of the Penn State Geisinger Wyoming Valley Medical Center.

A graduate of Luzerne County Community College, Bartley completed the Certified Medical Assistant program at Allied Medical and Technical Careers in January. She resides in Dallas with her husband, Dan and daughters, Katie and Gina.

Herbert Hill, a lifelong resident of the Back Mountain, announced that he will run for reelection as Kingston Township Supervisor. A candidate for Republican nomination, he has served on the board for four consecutive terms.

While serving as chairman of the board, Hill said he was pleased to see the administrative office and police department building completed. He said he "would like to continue good government."

Dr. John A. Koch, professor of math and computer science at Wilkes University, will provide colleagues and students with "The Solution of the Four Color Problem" at Siena College, Loudonville, NY, on Saturday, April 17.

As keynote speaker for the annual Hudson River Undergraduate Mathematics Conference (HRUMC), Koch will discuss the mathematical foundations of the problem, the historical approaches and the actual process involved in the solution.

The one-day conference is held each Spring semester and is attended by students and faculty from colleges, universities, and community colleges in New York and the New England area. Its goal is to provide undergraduates with the experience of attending and/or presenting at a professional mathematics meeting.

Koch was a graduate student on the team involved in solving the Four Color Problem in 1976. He has been part of the Wilkes family for the past 23 years and has recently written an online web testing program currently in use at the University. He resides in Shavertown.

Dr. Vee Ming Lew, from Dallas, was promoted from assistant to associate professor of math and computer science at Wilkes University. He acquired a bachelor of science degree from the University of California at Santa Barbara and earned a master's and doctoral degree from Cornell University. Lew helps compose the tests for the Annual High School Mathematics Competition held at Wilkes, and coordinates the Wilkes Summer Program for Advanced Placement Teachers.

Kingston Twp. yard sale sign rules

The Kingston Township Zoning Officer reminds residents it is illegal to attach garage/yard sale signs to telephone poles, or trees and they should be attached to individual stakes. All signs should be removed no later than 2 days after the sale. Violators may be fined up to $300. Additional information may be obtained from the Zoning Officer at 696-3809.
