

Flower show

On Thursday evening, April 22, there will be an opening night preview party at 6 p.m. Tickets are $30 and are still available. Gardeners in the know attend the Preview Party not only for the champagne and delicious food, but also because the exhibits are freshest then.

Other notable events include an appearance by Maria Rodale, an expert on organic gardening. She will speak on Saturday, April 24 at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m.

Dallas artist Sue Hand will be exhibiting her works throughout the flower show. Each day, she will create a watercolor to demonstrate her technique of painting flowers. Each of these unique watercolors will be raffled. In addition, Hand will paint a larger work that illustrates the entire Northeastern Flower Show scene. That masterpiece will sold at auction, via sealed bid, on Sunday.

The Northeast Pennsylvania Flower Show will take place on Friday, April 22, and Saturday, April 24, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sunday, April 25, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $6 for adults, $5 for seniors, $3 for children 6-12 and students with ID, and free for children 5 and younger.

Great Books at Hayfield to discuss Shaw's 'Man and Superman' April 26

The Great Books at Hayfield program continues its 15th season at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre campus in Lehman on Monday evening, April 26 at 7 p.m. in the Hayfield House Community Room, H-105.

This informal literary program will feature George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman" with discussion led by John Jarecki of Glen Lyon. One of Shaw's best known plays, "Man and Superman" is well described in its subtitle, "A Comedy and a Philosophy." Written almost a century ago, it is still modern and both comic and serious in presenting Shavian philosophy on the issue of women versus "superman" in our society.

All in the community interested in informal discussion are welcome to participate, or just to listen. This program is free and open to the public, refreshments will be served. For further information, please call 675-2171.

Dallas Lions host Eye Bank

The Dallas Lions Club was host to the Lower Wyoming Valley Eyebank at the Castle Inn in Dallas. Guest speaker for the affair was Geoff Miller, M.D., a member of the staff of Eye Care Specialists of Northeastern Pennsylvania who gave a fascinating talk on eye care and the problems one faces with their eyes with aging. The Eye Bank is always in need of donors for transplants and research. To learn more about eye donations, contact any member of your local Lions Club for a pledge card. Shown above are Pat Burke, Dallas Lions Club Secretary and Program Chairman; Dr. Miller and Bernie Walko, President of the Eye Bank.
