Shavertown Fire Co. needs funds

Due to a mediocre response, Shavertown Volunteer Fire Company has decided to send a second plea for financial support to all area residents and businesses who have not contributed to its 1999 fund drive. The fund drive, which began in March, serves as a major part of the fire company's annual operating income.

"To date, we heard for less than 30 percent of the residents and businesses we protect," said a disappointed Jerry Paxton, who is serving as this year's chairman. "We hope our second appeal will result in additional contributions. We need the support of everyone we protect to continue make the volunteer fire service a viable option. Please mail your contribution to us today."

'Dress down' to help autistic kids

S.A.F.E. Supporting Autism & Families Everywhere, is a local, non-profit organization support group that has a membership of over 300 local families that have children with Autism.

The group works to educate the public, the medical community, schools and parents of what options are available for their children.

To raise funds to continue educating the public and to have social outings for the children, S.A.F.E. is asking businesses in the surrounding communities to participate in Dress Down Day for Autism. Employees will be asked to donate $5 to participate in the Dress Down Day scheduled for Wednesday, May 12.

Anyone interested in this worthwhile cause for the kids can call Sheila Haigh 799-5790 or Cathy Fuller 477-2733 for more information.

Harveys Lake plans for millenium

Harveys Lake Borough is asking the residents and business people to help plan together the next millennium of Harveys Lake Borough. The borough is trying to plan a daylong event at the Lake that people will remember for years to come. But to do that, we need the help of everyone. We need input from the business people on what they can do to attract people to their businesses. We need input from residents on what they feel would attract families to the Lake and what kind of memories we can make for everyone.

The next meeting of the Committee will be held Wednesday, April 28 at 7 p.m. at the Borough Building.
