Dallas Elementary School holds 'Science Expo'

Students in all grades at Dallas Elementary School participated in the annual "Science Expo," held last Wednesday (April 21) at the school. Everything from the most basic principles, such as gravity, to the "egg to chicken" process was on display. In photos, clockwise from near right: Meghan Youells, 4th grade, generated electricity with a potato; Tristan Bethel, 2nd grade, chronicled the life of an egg; Kira Szulborski, 5th grade, held a baby chick; Alex Wilhelm demonstrated is project for his father, Tom; Anthony Lafayette put the five senses on a poster.
