

Teaching fire safety

Last week was Fire Prevention Week, and local volunteer firefighters took time out to talk to children about fire safety. Preschoolers from Trinity Learning Center in Dallas visited the Shavertown fire hall for demonstrations. Patrick Gelso, below, was fascinated by the gadgets and gizmos on a fire truck. Lori Hoats, right photo, had to climb up to take a photo of her son, Jared. In photo at right, bottom, Jared and Frankie Hullihan clambered up into the driver's seat. Bottom left, a firefighter dressed in his gear to show the children how he might look if he came to investigate a fire at their home.
