Mary and Bob Saba with their five children Dallas, PA

After delivering five babies there, we should be sending them flowers. Mary

"We can't imagine life without our children. Kendra, our youngest, was just born on January 17. Bobby, our oldest, is six. Danny is five years old, Matthew is three, and Kylee is two. Every one of them was born at Geisinger Wyoming Valley Medical Center. We love the doctors and nurses up there. They're like family to us. They made each experience so comfortable. The staff was always there whenever we needed anything. The maternity area is so home-like. And the rooms are like bedrooms. I stayed in the same one for everything—from labor until I was ready to go home. The hospital even arranged for a nurse to visit us 24 hours after we went home to check the baby's weight, vital signs and answer any questions. If we ever had to move, I'd still want to come back here. They're really concerned about our care."
