Lyric Consort Contare at Sem Aug. 6

The Lyric Consort and Contare (the premier treble chorus of The Choral Society of Northeast Pennsylvania) are pleased to announce a free public concert on Sunday, August 6 at 7 p.m. in the Buckingham Center for the Performing Arts on the campus of Wyoming Seminary's upper school in Kingston. Each of the ensembles will appear as featured artists at the American Choral Directors' state conference in State College on August 8., and will share selections from the programs planned for those appearances.

Formed in 1993 to explore the riches of the a cappella tradition, The Lyric Consort's performances and wide-ranging repertoire has garnered consistent critical acclaim. The ensemble's acknowledged mastery of Medieval and Renaissance repertoires is being increasingly balanced by similar success with contemporary vocal works and the ensemble now regularly premieres new works from the region's finest composers and arrangers.

An auditioned ensemble of 16 high school treble voices under the direction of Ms. Susan Kelly, Contare represents the most advanced singers from The Choral Society's five-tiered children's/youth program. Formed in 1998, the ensemble offers eight performances annually as part of the Society's subscription series, and also appeared with the Society's symphonic chorus during last May's performances of Handel's Judas Maccabaeus. The ensemble also appeared at May's Fine Arts Fiesta in Wilkes-Barre.
