Bednar earns award for teamwork

Joyce Bednar of Dallas was among fourteen Tobyhanna Army Depot employees that have worked together since October 1999 to improve Tobyhanna's bid/no-bid decision process.

As members of an Employee Involvement Team, they were recognized with Teamwork Awards and jackets on July 20, for their high-quality contributions that will ensure Tobyhanna has the capability to accomplish new partnering programs with a high probability of success.

The team included a multi-disciplinary group of technical experts, mission directorate representatives and an American Federation of Government Employees Local 1647 representative.

The award cited all team members for demonstrating initiative and creativity to recommend this new, improved bid/no-bid process.

Tobyhanna Army Depot is the Defense Department's largest facility for the repair, overhaul and fabrication of communications-electronics systems and components. Approximately 3,200 personnel are employed at Tobyhanna.

Children enjoy a wonder of nature

The children at the Back Mountain Day Care Center in Shavertown were treated to a fast-paced, energetic and humorous program about the beauty and wonder of butterflies. Their imaginations soared as Rick Mikula, owner of the Hole-in-Hand Butterfly Farm in Hazleton, walked them through the life cycles, biology and ecological importance of these beautiful creatures. Rick invited the children to touch and feed the butterflies, and engaged them in an exercise to perform many of the motions and activities in a butterfly's daily life. Rick Mikula is a noted author, lecturer, photographer and habitat consultant who conducts school programs and workshops for children and adults.
