A special "tip of the hat" to PTSO parent Mary Barbara Gilligan for editing our PTSO quarterly newsletter. We appreciate all the time and work Mary Barbara put into this informative pamphlet.

Often times, our PTSO parents are doing work behind the scenes to help our administrators, faculty and students with various school programs. One of these parents is Sherry Riley. Sherry is constantly doing something to help someone, whether it be the guidance department of Grad 2001 committee. Thank you Sherry, for all you do for us.

The guidance office would like to thank guidance helpers for our fall semester, Emily Nagy, Ben Kastenbaum, and Kevin Razawich. Thanks for all your help, kids!

Foran and Shah nominated for Heisman Award

Wyoming Seminary Upper School senior students Emily Foran of Dallas and Neil Shah of Shavertown have been nominated for the seventh annual Wendy's High School Heisman Award, said David L. Davies, Dean of the Upper School.

The national award program recognizes and honors high school senior women and men who demonstrate excellence in three areas: academics, community service and athletics. The award was created by Wendy's, the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) and the Downtown Athletic Club of New York City.

Foran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Foran, has participated in Junior Leadership Wilkes-Barre and is active in the school's Blue Key and Model UN programs, as well as the student newspaper. She has won national recognition of her talent in Spanish and Latin competitions and has been named AP Scholar by The College Board and a Commended Student by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. As the only girl on the school's varsity golf team, Foran has qualified to compete in District and State level golf tournaments.

Shah, son of Dr. and Mrs. Naresh Shah, serves as president of Student Government and received a Levi Sprague Fellowship. He has participated in Junior Leadership Wilkes-Barre, the Peace Center Dismantling Racism Committee, the Diversity Institute, Model UN and the Youth Summit 2000. He also is active in the Blue Key, student newspaper and International Club, and is captain of the tennis team, winning medals at the Keystone State Games and winning first place in district competition. He has received numerous awards and attended the Governor's School for the Sciences this year.

'Great Mail Race' at DMS

Dallas Middle School eighth grade English students in Ms. Lisa Niewinski's classes are currently participating in the "Great American Mail Race." This project allows students to learn about people their own age from different parts of the country. Each student wrote a letter to two different states of their choice. The letters were addressed and mailed to eighth-grade English classes all over the country. The race gives students an opportunity to correspond with other eighth graders while practicing their letter-writing skills.
