

Art exhibit at Sen. Lemmond's office features young local artists

State Senator Charles Lemmond and local artist Sue Hand invite the public to a very special exhibit by some of our area's up-and-coming artists. The Senator's Invitational Exhibit is centered around the theme "Images of Northeastern Pennsylvania." Many of the student artworks depict the same views and subjects used by Sue Hand in her Millennium Collection.

The artwork is in various types of media by students of Sue Hand, and the artists range from the 4th to the 12th grade. Back Mountain residents include: Julia Kvashay, Stephanie Wallace, Victoria Lacey, Marie Foti, Joshua Crawford, Megan Gryzic, Stephen Levandoski, Kelly Dickinson, Erin Loughney, Christina Vinciguerra, Lauren Hardisky, Kendra Sirak, Laura Yankowski, Kaylin Kopen, Mellissa Evans, Matthew Wilson, Laura Vodzak, Laura Stark, Lenora Kaplan, Helene Jayne, Danielle Krawetz, Kim King, Sarah Marianacci, Joseph Stachnik, Rachel Schaub, Justin Amy and Rachel Symons.

The exhibit is open during office hours at the Back Mountain office of State Senator Charles Lemmond, 22 Dallas Shopping Center. A Meet-the-Artist Reception will be held on Friday, Nov. 17 from 4-6 p.m. For additional information, please contact Heather Madeira at 675-5094.

Knights notes

Donora Hillard

There are pressing issues on the minds of Lake-Lehman students and high school students everywhere: specifically, the recent election and the fact that college application deadlines are quickly encroaching.

The pressures of the former were evident in a recent mock election that was held by the high school. Both juniors and seniors participated in the event, which took place on November 3 and employed the use of an authentic voting machine that was donated by the community. Republican candidate George W. Bush defeated Democrat Al Gore by a landslide, claiming victory with a margin of more than 100 votes. One senior male was elated to learn that Harry Browne, the Libertarian candidate, received 12 votes.

Several other high schools also held mock elections, and it is interesting to note how they fared in comparison. Bush dominated the "rural" areas of Lehman and Tunkhannock, while Gore monopolized "urban" Wyoming Valley West.

Though the election has come and gone, facing its reality proved important to students. Those of voting age had, if they chose to exercise the right, the opportunity to choose the leader who will be in power while they are in college. As if the selection process wasn't harrowing enough! Many upperclassmen live in constant fear of their college application. Seemingly every free moment is spent filling out forms, researching universities on the Internet, and begging recommendations from teachers and guidance counselors. As Leigh Dodson, a Lake-Lehman junior, says: "My life is busy. Very busy. Every academic action I take I must consider carefully." Rebecca Martin and Maret Smolow, both seniors, agree that it is unfair for students to have to decide their lives before the age of 18. The impact this crucial time period can have on college and career plans is incredible.

Election, and college are nailbiters

Maureen White, also a senior, seems to have the right idea. She feels that getting into college is primarily a confidence game. Confidence and attitude are little things that can make a big difference. As reality sets in for all teenagers, a reminder of this is needed. The right attitude can take you far, it's just a matter of getting there. Yesterday my peers and I were in the sandbox; today we're in the voting booth. Whatever the case may be, the issues of presidential election and college selection indicate that for everyone, it's time to take action!

Luksic, Slocum score for Pirates

The Pirates scored 4 straight goals but ended up losing 7-5 against the Cortland Flames on Saturday, Nov. 4 at the Ice Box in Pittston.
