CONSTRUCTION BEGINNING ON NEWBERRY PROJECT

The first cluster of units in the Troup Fund's multimillion dollar condominium project at Newberry Estate is under construction by Mushal Construction Company, with plans for 15 units to be completed by late spring and a total of 40 units ready for occupancy by the end of the first year. Troup Fund, Inc. proposes to build some 400 units on their Pioneer Avenue property in the next eight years, at a cost of over $15,000,000. Included in the project are a private club and inn, golf course, nine swimming pools, tennis courts and several recreational buildings - including a men's club building, women's club building and an arts and craft center. Condominium purchasers will pay from $30,000 to $70,000 for their individually-owned units.

DEREMER PLANS POLITICAL COMEBACK

An attempted comeback by former borough council president Robert DeRemer will highlight what should be a typically wild and woolly primary election at Harveys Lake. "My name will be there," said DeRemer, confirming that he will try to regain a seat on borough council by getting on the Republican ballot. DeRemer lost his seat and council presidency in 1979 when a slate of candidates backed by the borough Republican organization lost. DeRemer said that he will definitely run as a Republican and that he hopes for party support.

Having a 'Boxing Ball'

Fifth and sixth graders at Lehman-Jackson Elementary marked the end of a basketball program sponsored by the school's PTA with games that included "Boxing Ball," in which the male coaches played the boys while wearing boxing gloves. The girls played their moms, but neither side was saddled with gloves. The program was coordinated by Andrea Mitkus and Mary Jo Nelson of the Lehman-Jackson PTA.

POST PHOTOS/JIM PHILLIPS

In photos, clockwise from top right: Sande Holena had Erica McGovern's ear, if not her tongue; Bob Mitkus gave a little pre-game instruction; Rachel Mahoney, top, and Chad Carey, bottom, were captivated spectators; Kelly Bronson, foreground, and Nina Chamberlain eagerly awaited the start of the game; Bill Watkins took careful aim; Anne Cornell seemed to have words of wisdom.
