

Community Photo Album

This little guy may not have to worry about things like his blood pressure, but Gert Bittings, RN, checks him out.

Divers show their stuff on Sunday, from left: Jim Johnson, Kim Bucklend, Denise Searles, Dave Searles, and Doug Newbigging.

Annual DUI/BUI Safe Boating Day at Harveys Lake

According to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission there were 125 deaths on Pennsylvania waterways between 1991-2000. In 2000, Fridays and Saturdays rank the highest for DUI arrests. This is the reason the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission team up with the Northeast Highway Safety Program for a day of fun and education at the Annual DUI/BUI Safe Boating Day at Harveys Lake on Sunday, June 3. The day included courtesy boat inspections by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, information tables from the State Police, the District Attorney's Office, Harveys Lake Historical Society and many more.

POST PHOTOS/JIM PHILLIPS

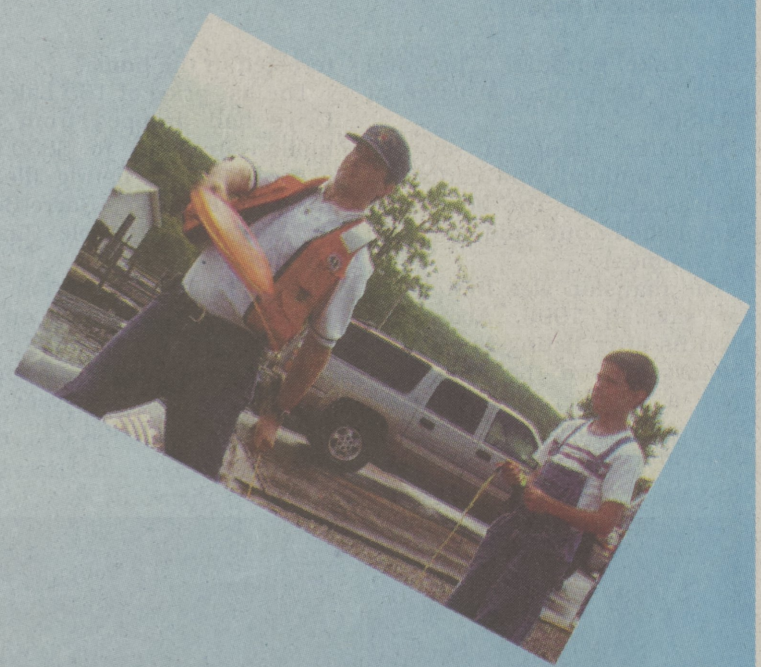

Pictured at right, Brian Smigielski checks on the life jackets. Below, Kenny Johnson, Trooper Thomas Kelley, Cindy Mauriello, assistant coordinator Northeast Highway Safety Program; Chaz Balogh, Luzerne County District Attorney's Office; Sharon Spencer, and James Stout waterways conservation officer.

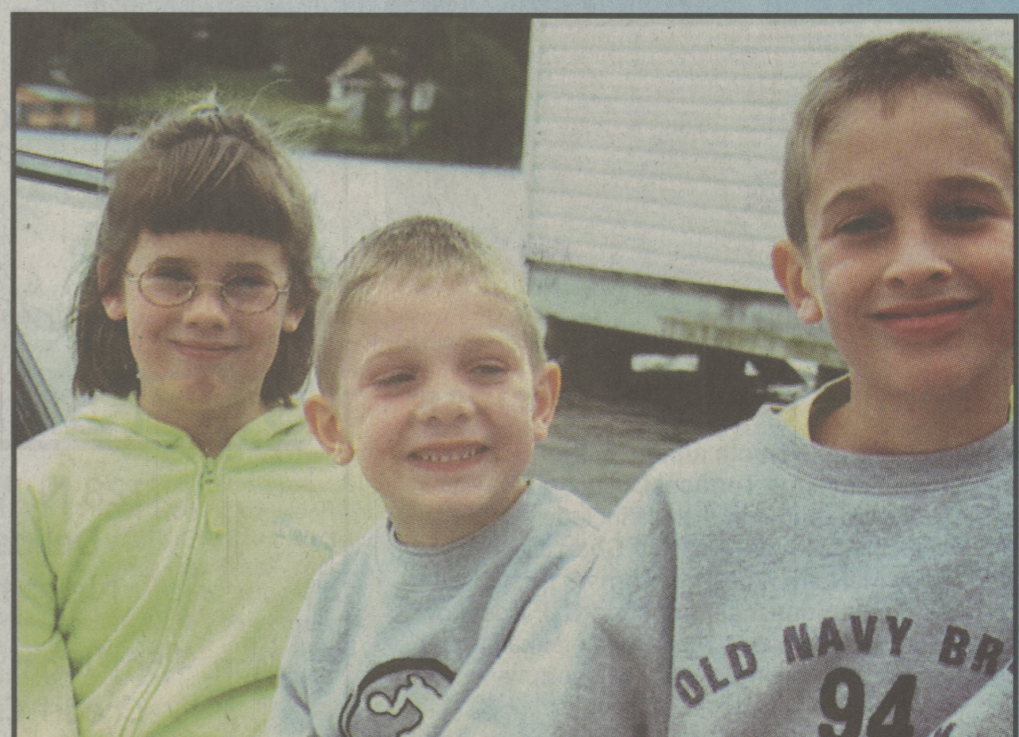

Kim Bucklend found out Harveys Lake is still too cold.

At left, Terry and Sue Vosik enjoy the days festivities and the sun. Below, David Davis and his son, Christopher Davis put on a demonstration Sunday at Harveys Lake.

Denise Williams and Ailene Forster sell raffle tickets at the Harveys Lake DUI/BUI Boat Safety Day.

Kids like boats too, from left: Elizabeth Nicholas, Matthew Nicholas, and Alex Nicholas.