

Community Photo Album

SUMMER FUN

The kids at the Kenneth A. Young Memorial Park know what summer is all about - FUN! At the Dallas Borough Summer Day Camp, fun is what's most important. The kids enjoy basketball, table tennis, swings and just being kids. About 30 to 35 take advantage of the camp each day.

Second year camp counsellor Erin Allardyce said, "I really like the kids and we have a good time."

The atmosphere for the camp is informal and the kids like it that way. "Playing with my friends," is Abigail Mulhern's favorite part of camp. The camp is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. from Monday thru Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday. Children must pre-register.

Johnny Murray, six, reminds us what summer and being a kid is all about.

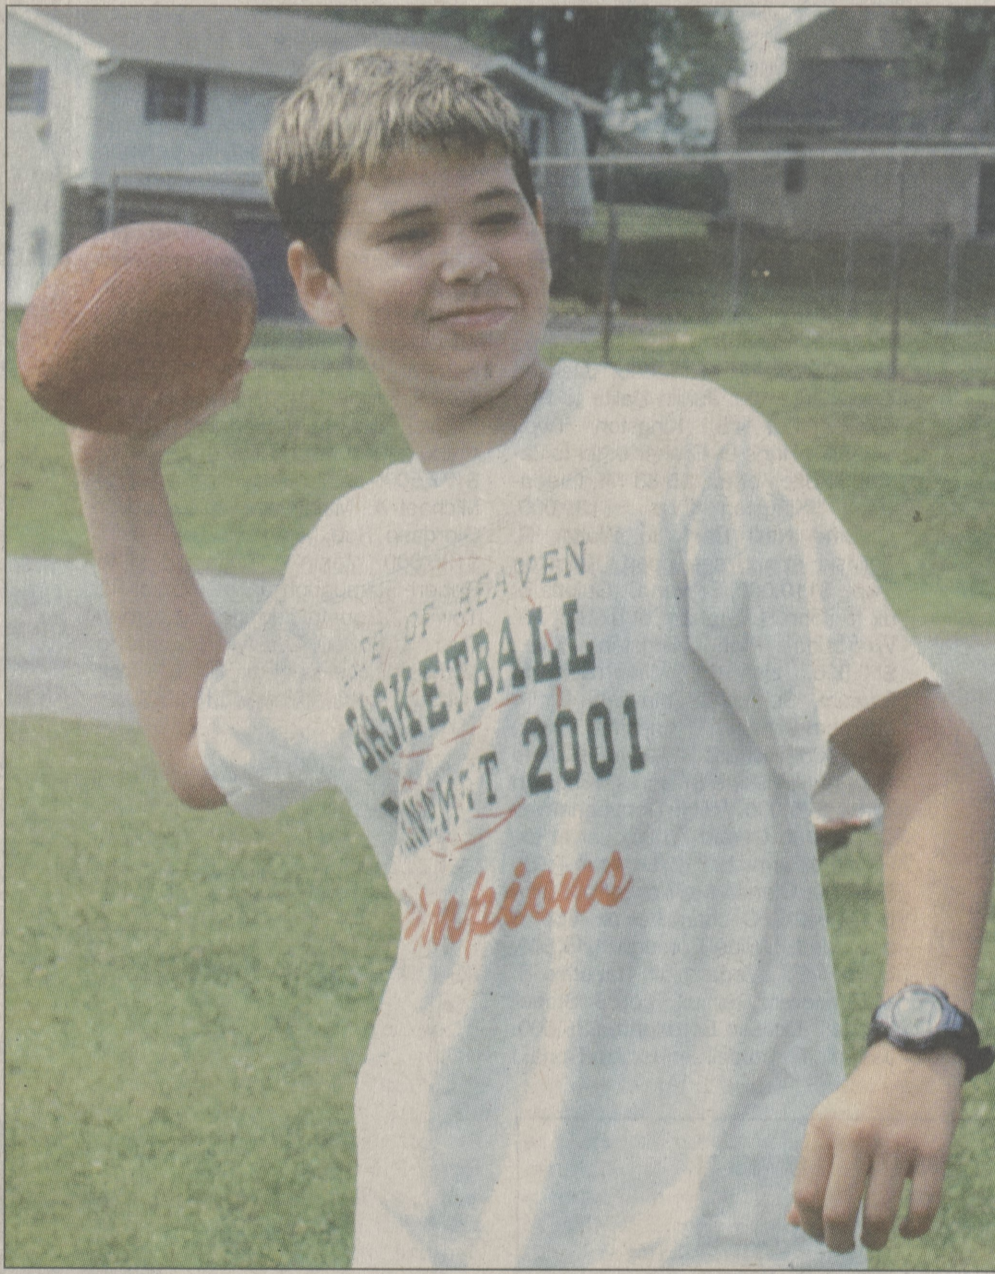

The chess wizards battle wits. From left: Wesley Evans, 11, Brad Fagula, 12, Ryan Gilroy, 13, Patrick Murray, 11, Abigail Mulhern, 10, Mike Ell, 12, and Mark Covert, 11.

POST PHOTOS/ HEATHER B. JONES

It's a slam dunk for 12-year-old Brad Fagula.

J.J. Durr, 13, has many talents from football to basketball.

Concentration is the key for Patrick Murray.

Table tennis is a popular sport at camp and Ryan Gilroy knows how to work the table.

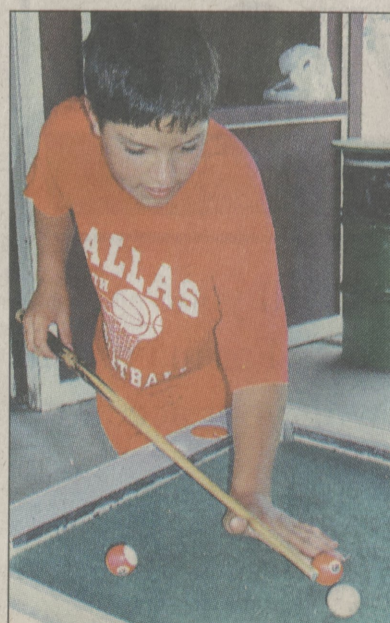

Madeline Mulhern gives a big smile with Camp Counsellor Erin Allardyce.

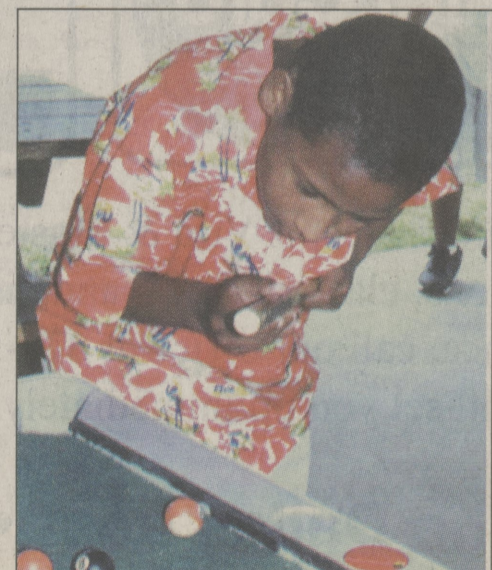

Mark Covert, 11, delivers a big serve while playing table tennis.

Taking a break from camp activities, 6-year-old Madeline Mulhern watches the other children.

Joe Bevevino lines up his shot.

David Dejsus sharpens his pool skills at the Dallas Borough Day Camp.