and her highest three-game series is 616. Samantha enjoys competing at tournaments like the Keystone Games. "Each year I compete in four or five tournaments. It is fun to work on my skills and also to meet new people," she explained.

Samantha participates in the Back Mountain Youth Bowling League. Last year, this group consisted of 37 bowlers, ages 3-21. The league meets at the Back Mountain Bowl for team competitions every Saturday morning from September to April. Each bowler works to earn patches and trophies. Samantha's mother is the coordinator for the league and her father, Len Laskowski, is the league coach.

The Keystone State Games will be held in Wilkes-Barre for the next three years. Mrs. Laskowski hopes this will encourage more Back Mountain youth bowlers to participate.

She welcomes all potential Back Mountain bowlers, ages 3-21, to register for next year's league. For more information, contact Back Mountain Bowl.

Antlerless deer licenses on sale

Pennsylvania Game Commission Executive Director Vern Ross reminded hunters that county treasurers began accepting applications for the first round of unsold antlerless licenses Monday, Aug. 27. Hunters only may apply for one unsold license during this round, but may apply for a second unsold antlerless license beginning Sept. 10.

Ross also announced that, based on a survey of county treasurers, 23 counties have exhausted their antlerless deer license allocations. Those counties are: Armstrong; Bedford; Cambria; Carbon; Centre; Clarion; Clearfield; Clinton; Crawford; Elk; Forest; Juniata; Mercer; Mifflin; Perry; Potter; Schuylkill; Snyder; Somerset; Sullivan; Union; Venango; and Wyoming.

In addition to these 23 counties, 14 other counties have fewer than 1,000 antlerless licenses remaining.

A complete county-by-county listing of the remaining available allocations can be viewed on the Game Commission's website (www.pgc.state.pa.us). The listing will be updated weekly. Today's survey showed that slightly more than 194,679 remain.

Ross noted that the 2001-2002 antlerless allocations were designed to reduce the statewide deer herd by about 5 percent. To do that, the agency needs hunters to harvest roughly 350,000 antlerless deer. Based on the increased hunter efficiencies expected from the new seasons and bag limits, Commissioners approved a statewide antlerless license allocation for the 2001-2002 seasons of 780,250 antlerless licenses — which is lower than the previous year's allocation by 50,400.

Last year at this time, 12 counties had sold their entire antlerless deer license allocation, and 329,796 of the 830,650 statewide antlerless deer license allocation remained.

The timetable for remaining antlerless deer license applications follows:

Beginning Monday, Aug. 27, county treasurers will accept, only through the mail, applications for the first round of unsold antlerless licenses. Applicants may apply over-the-counter in Special Regulation Area counties.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 10, county treasurers will accept, only through the mail, applications for the second round of unsold antlerless licenses.

Regular antlerless licenses and first-round unsold licenses will be mailed by county treasurers to successful applicants no later than Monday, Sept. 17. Second-round unsold licenses will be mailed no later than Monday, Sept. 24.

A county-by-county listing of antlerless allocations is printed on page 22 of the 2001-2002 Pennsylvania Digest of Hunting and Trapping Regulations, which is distributed to each license buyer.
