Unique decorating tips to personalize your wedding

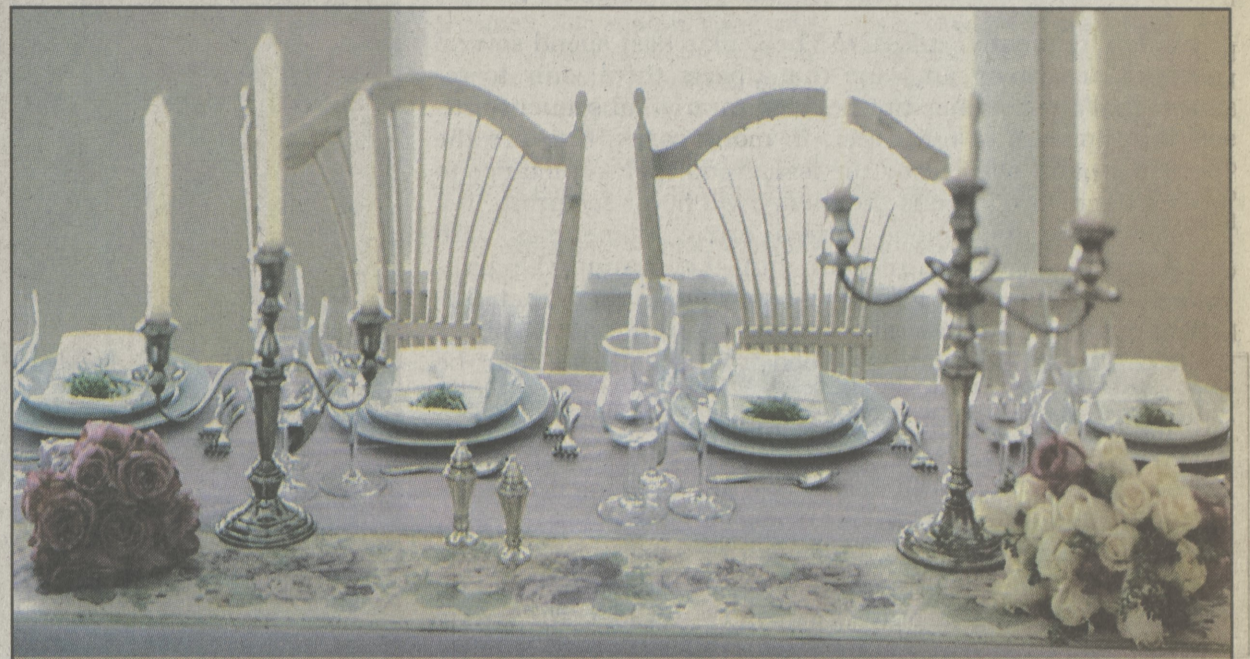

your dreams. Jaima Brown, Director of Design for S. A. Maxwell believes that you can bring your garden inside by using floral borders on your table tops.

Enhance your guest tables and make your head table more fabulous by following these suggestions: Lavender - The Color of Royalty Roses equal romance. Add style to your head and guest tables by using either cream or lavender tablecloths. Place a rose wallpaper border in lavender down the center of the table and cut at both ends. Soft lavenders, pink blushes and yellows are sizzling hot colors in decorating as well as bridesmaids apparel.

Complete your table setting with white china, lavender cloth napkins and place dried lavender rose petals directly on the tablecloth and napkins to add the finishing touches to your fairytale day.

A magnificent Magnolia border from the "Coordinates" wallcovering collection from L.V. Emmert Studio, a division of S. A. Maxwell, has a beautifully sculptured edge. This enhances your wedding style and brings color and unique design to your tabletop. Use an eight-inch pink sculpted magnolia border down the center of a white linen tablecloth or hang it along the front of the head table or around the head and guest tables. To attach the border to the table edge, use either Velcro, double-faced tape or staples. Complete the look with white china, burgundy napkins and soft pink candles. Very formal, yet chic.

The sunny side of Provence has influenced the use of the color yellow in America and has brought it into the forefront in decorating and fashion. Yellow combined with blue exudes a French flair. S. A. Maxwell's "Lincoln Park" wallcovering collection features a beautiful yellow hydrangea border. Use this dramatic 10-inch floral border as decorative accents to your wedding cake, gift, dessert and receiving tables.

Remember the color of the border is very important and must also flow with your centerpieces. Be daring and be different on your wedding day.

(ARA) - If you are like most of us you have been dreaming and planning this day since you were a child. This is your special day and you want it to be perfect. Yes, this is all going to happen and you are going to have one of those weddings that people will talk about for years to come.
