Wyoming Seminary Players present 'Pippin'

Pippin, played by Wyoming Seminary senior Douglas Mock from Clarks Summit, is surrounded by members of the cast in this scene from the musical comedy "Pippin," to be performed at Wyoming Seminary Upper School in Kingston Feb. 1-3.

Leslie Dewees of Dallas has a leading role

Take one pampered, self-centered young man, the eldest son of the great king Charlemagne. Throw in the desire to become great and mix with handfuls of war, politics, death, magic and love. Garnish with catchy tunes and elaborate dance routines, and you have the delectable musical "Pippin."

The Wyoming Seminary Players will present performances of "Pippin" on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 1 and 2 at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Feb. 3 at 2 p.m. in the Buckingham Performing Arts Center, N. Sprague Ave., Kingston. The production is open to the public; tickets will be sold at the door at $3 each.

Opening at Broadway's Imperial Theater in October, 1972, "Pippin" ran for 1,994 performances and received five Tony Awards in 1973. The show features music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz, who went on to write for "Godspell," "Prince of Egypt," and "Pocahontas." Bob Fosse directed and choreographed the show, which became known for its spectacular music and dance numbers.

Sem's production will include both large and small dance ensembles, choreographed by Sem choreographer/dance teacher Bernardine Vojtko. The stage starts out empty and gradually fills as the show progresses, with actors carrying some sets on stage and other sets flying in. But everything disappears at the final scene and the stage is bare once more, Sherry noted.

Douglas Mock, a senior from Clarks Summit, plays Pippin, while senior Leslie Dewees of Dallas is the Leading Player. More than 50 Sem students are in the cast and crew.

This production is part of Sem's 2001-2002 Performing Arts Series. For tickets or more information call 270-2190.

CANCER BASICS

Q: Are individuals affected by cancer at higher risk for depression?

A: Millions of people suffer from depression every year. Individuals affected by cancer may be especially vulnerable due to the wide ranging impact of a cancer diagnosis. Unfortunately many do not recognize symptoms or may be reluctant to seek help. Depression can take many forms but is often marked by sleep/appetite disturbance, loss of interest or pleasure in life, irritability, social withdrawal, and feelings of sadness, hopelessness, or anxiety. The good news is that depression can be successfully treated.

If you think you are clinically depressed, speak to your healthcare provider or contact the Cancer Institute for treatment resources.
