Eight winners ride in 'Richy Rich' limousine

The Lehman-Jackson PTA sent eight lucky winners on a "Richy Rich" limousine ride (Touch of Class Limousine Inc. of Edwardsville) to McDonald's as a special incentive for students who worked hard to make this year's fundraiser successful. Lehman's one and only fund-raising event of the year is the most important function the PTA performs through the year since all money benefits the elementary school by funding field trips for all grades K-6th, and four assemblies a year. Funds are also used for many of the extras the students take advantage of, including: a basketball program, three free book distributions a year, a summer reading program and much more.

PSU Wilkes-Barre expands Letters, Arts, & Sciences to 4-year status

Students who wish to pursue a Letters, Arts, & Sciences baccalaureate degree (4LAS) locally, now have that option at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre campus in Lehman. "Penn State Wilkes-Barre has been offering the associate degree in Letters, Arts and Sciences since the early 1970's. The new option of completing this baccalaureate degree at Penn State Wilkes-Barre means that local students will no longer be required to transfer to University Park or to other Penn State campuses to complete this degree," said Dr. Mary Hines, campus CEO.

The 4LAS is a theme-oriented, student-designed major that combines the strengths of several different majors into one inter-disciplinary degree. The core (12 credits) consists of 3 credits each in the following: research methods/projects; communication skills; theory/application; and critical analysis. The Liberal Studies Option, which is the option currently available at Penn State Wilkes-Barre, consists of 24 credits directed toward the student's theme. In order to be admitted to the major, the student must submit a proposal designing a program that investigates a theme from the viewpoint of at least three different subject areas. At Penn State Wilkes-Barre, students will be initially encouraged to develop a communications related theme, however, other inter-disciplinary options will soon be available.

For more information regarding the Letters, Arts, & Sciences baccalaureate degree, please call the Admissions Office at 570-675-9238 or e-mail wbadmissions@psu.edu. Visit the web site at: www.wb.psu.edu

College fair, seminars at Sem May 8

Wyoming Seminary College Preparatory School will host a multi-faceted college night on its Kingston campus on Wednesday, May 8. Designed as a public service to benefit high school sophomores, juniors and their parents, all three parts of this event are free and open to the public.

"Applying to college today is more complicated than ever before," said Karen Mason, director of college guidance at Sem. "Students and their parents have to start earlier, learn more and consider more options. This fair is a good first step in the process."

Beginning at 6:30 p.m., Sem will offer a seminar on "Preparing for the College Admission Process." Mason will introduce the process of researching and applying to colleges, and will discuss trends in college admissions, how these trends affect today's students, and what's important in a college application.

Held in room 20 of Nesbitt Hall on Market Street, the seminar will be within walking distance of the college fair.

The college fair will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. in the main gym of the Carpenter Athletic Center on Maple Avenue. Representatives from more than 80 colleges and universities will be available to answer questions, hand out literature and provide information about their schools. The colleges will include American University, Bentley College, Connecticut College, Cornell University, Denison University, Franklin and Marshall College, Georgetown University, Keuka College, Lafayette College, New York University, Princeton University and Washington University among others.

At 7:30 and 8:30 Sem will host a seminar for financial aid options. Presented by William Burke, director of financial aid at the University of Scranton, this seminar will also take place in room 20 of Nesbitt Hall. Burke will provide information about the changing financial aid scene, and will field questions from the audience.

Ample parking is available in two lots on North Sprague Avenue, the fire station on Sprague Avenue, and street parking near Nesbitt Hall and the gym. For more information or directions, call Sem's college guidance office at 270-2106.
