

Merchants show their wares at business show

The Back Mountain Business and Professional Association hosted its second Business Fair and Card Exchange last week at Stax & Co. restaurant in Dallas.

BMBPA members set up tables to display their products and services to visitors who enjoyed complimentary food and beverages, and music by Mike Back, provided by Tony Macri of the Overbrook restaurant. The event is one of the organization's efforts to improve the business climate in the Back Mountain.

Tell our advertisers you saw them in The Dallas Post. They'll appreciate it, and so will we.

*No closing cost option available to customers with marketable/insurable title on the property securing the loan. Valid on owner-occupied, 1-4 family properties. Customer must provide hazard insurance coverage. For mortgages with less than 20% down payment, Private Mortgage Insurance (PMI) is required and customer is responsible for PMI premiums. Other fees/charges, if applicable, are the responsibility of the customer. Should the no closing costs mortgage be closed or discharged within the first three years, the Bank may collect the closing costs from the customer which were waived when the loan was opened. **If a customer selects an attorney to represent him/her, customer is responsible for attorney fees. First Liberty Bank will not pay for a survey, nor any other item that is ordinarily paid for by the seller.
