Penn State Summer Youth Programs

Penn State Wilkes-Barre's Summer Youth Program offers children in grades Kindergarten through eighth grades an action-packed adventure this summer. The day camps have an overall focus on science and technology, with new camps this year adding an option of art and literature. Sports camps also are available including soccer (grades K-12), basketball and volleyball (grades 8-12).

The camps provide children a hands-on opportunity to explore the world in a safe environment with experienced instructors. Topics include robotics, including LEGO MINDSTORMS', rock-etry, wildlife, computers, art, acting and experiments related to the Harry Potter' novels, journalism, summer olympics and more. Students may purchase lunch daily in the cafeteria or may bring lunch from home. While children attend camps, parents/guardians are welcome to use the campus library or the exercise/weight room in the Athletic Building.

For more information or a complete brochure listing all of the camps, call Donna Glunt at 675-9220 or email djg14@psu.edu.
