Lyric Concert performance aids Habitat

The Lyric Consort will present an a cappella concert on Sunday, September 8 at 3 p.m., as a benefit for Habitat for Humanity. The performance will be given in the Great Hall of Wyoming Seminary, 228 Wyoming Avenue, just north of Kingston Corners.

Formed in 1993 to present the many forms of a cappella music, the Lyric Consort's performances and wide-ranging repertoire have received critical acclaim throughout the region. The eight-voice ensemble presents annual concert series in both Wilkes-Barre and Scranton venues and has performed by invitation throughout the Wyoming Valley, eastern and central Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York. Led by co-founder and music director Dr. Allan Baker, the Lyric Consort is known for its mastery of medieval and Renaissance vocal music, as well as contemporary vocal works.

In this benefit performance, the Lyric Consort will present a program of well-loved folk songs and spirituals, as well as a selection of beautiful art songs. A suggested donation of $10 from adults and $5 from students and senior citizens will directly benefit Habitat for Humanity International.

For further information, call 270-2186.

The Lyric Consort will present a benefit performance for Habitat for Humanity on Sunday, Sept. 8 at 3 p.m. in the Great Hall of Wyoming Seminary in Kingston. Members of the Consort are, from left, first row: Jodi Rineheimer, Leslie Mason Moran, Susan Kelly, and Dr. Alan Baker. Second row, from left: Francis McMullen, Frank Spencer, Jennifer Adam, and Christopher Gallo.

Tue., Sept. 24, IREM TEMPLE COUNTRY CLUB, Country Club Road, Dallas 12:30 - 6:30 p.m.

'Amateur night' at PSU observatory

Penn State Wilkes-Barre announces its first amateur astronomer night this year, hosted by the Friedman Observatory on the Lehman campus. The event is rain or shine and will begin at 6 p.m. this Friday, Sept. 6, with a pot luck dinner and setting up telescopes. It will be followed by an informal lecture about using and buying telescopes by Ed Francik of Uncle Eyeballs, the local Meade telescope dealer. At 8 p.m. viewing will begin.

Everyone is encouraged to bring personal telescopes and binoculars, but there should be plenty of telescopes to look through for those who are interested but do not own their own telescope. In the event of rain or clouds, the telescope lecture will still take place at 7 p.m. For further information, feel free to contact Dr. Timothy Lawlor at tlawlor@psu.edu 675-9278, or Paul Shedlock pshedlock@psu.edu 823-5615.
