veloped partnerships in all of the 50 states. Other local police agencies that have implemented program include the Luzerne County Sheriff's Department and the Wilkes-Barre Police Department.

"I have a small son at home and a lot of children come into our house; it seemed like a good thing to do," said Denise Swida of Shavertown, who stopped by Monday morning to pick up some locks. Swida said most of her family's guns are put away in a metal cabinet, but there are two that are out.

"It's the best secondary means of preventing someone from gaining access to them," said Balavage. He said the program would have begun earlier, but the last set of locks that came out as
