Adopt-A-Family for Christmas

The Catherine McAuley Center is preparing for another season of matching local families/business/organizations with needy families in Lackawanna and Luzerne Counties. The Center is the linking agency to people who are in need to people who have more than they need and want to help.

The Adopt-A-Family Program provides food, clothing, toys and other gifts to people in the Northeast region-people who otherwise could not afford much of a Christmas.

If you would like to apply, applications for the Adopt-A-Family program will be taken Monday and Thursday from 1 to 5 p.m. starting October 21 to November 4, or until predetermined quota is met at the Catherine McAuley House, 121 Church St., Plymouth. Call 779-2801 for details on application procedures.

For individuals/families/organizations/businesses who are interested in sponsoring a family, contact the coordinator at the Catherine McAuley House at the address above or phone 779-2801. Monetary donations are also accepted.

Celebrity Luncheons presents local actress

Celebrity Luncheons will feature Scranton native actress and comedian, Amy Wilson, on Thursday, October 24.

Television audiences may recognize her as the uptight Barb Krolak from NBC's "Daddio," or as the sarcastic Molly Carver from ABC's "Norm." She has also had a recurring guest role as Sabrina Briscoe on the WB's "Felicity," and most recently, guest starred as Heather Ross on NBC's "Ed." Others may recognize her from the Adweek award-winning ESPN the Magazine commercial, in which she played an enthusiastic, but dim-witted cheerleader.

Amy graduated from Scranton Central High School and went on to graduate summa cum laude from Yale University. She then moved to New York City where she appeared in many theatrical productions. In 1998, Amy made her Broadway debut as Sunny

Freitag, the Atlanta ingenue, in the Tony Award-winning play "The Last Night of Ballyhoo."

Amy also writes and performs one-woman shows, working with director (and fellow native) Julie Kramer. Their most recent collaboration, "My Roots are Showing," is a funny and heart-warming look at what it's like to be from Scranton. In June 2001, Amy brought this show to Marywood University for two sold-out performances. Her previous one-woman show, "A Cookie Full of Arsenic (My Life as a Femme Fetal)," was chosen for HBO's

US Comedy Arts Festival in Aspen, Colorado in February 1999.

The final two speakers for the 2002-2003 series include the greatest comedian gone straight, Frank Abagnale, on Friday, April 25 and The Antiques Roadshow on Thursday, May 15.

Luncheons are held at Genetti's Hotel and Conference Center in Wilkes-Barre with guest celebrities speaking from 11 am - noon, followed by a question and answer period. Lunch is served at 12:30 p.m. Season tickets are $165. For tickets or sponsorship opportunities, please call 696-3967.

Correction

An article in last week's issue of The Dallas Post said Jackson Township official send letters of complaint regarding blasting at American Asphalt "on a daily basis." What was meant is that complaints are forwarded to the company as soon as they are received by the township. So far this year, approximately six complaints have been made.
