

Sem names new trustees

The Board of Trustees of Wyoming Seminary College Preparatory School installed new members during its recent fall meeting, George Sordoni, board chair, announced.

The new members include Jeannie McCarthy Clements, Class of 1977, Shavertown; and Dawn M. Leas, Shavertown.

Clements, president of the Upper School Parents Association, is a graduate of Wilkes University and serves as treasurer of the board of the Wyoming Valley chapter of the American Red Cross. She also serves as a member of the Sem Alumni Council. She is an employee in the medical practice of Drs. Scott and Clements.

Leas, president of the Lower School Parents Association, is a graduate of the University of Scranton and has been active in Parents Association activities at the Lower School. She is employed by CDS Creative as a writer and has served as a freelance writer, associate editor of the Independent Press and a writer for Condron & Company, Inc. She has served as a board member and officer of the Northeast Pennsylvania Ad Club and was a member of the Northeast Network.

Sem honors Herbert Quick

Wyoming Seminary College Preparatory School in Kingston recently presented its annual

Joseph C. Donchess Distinguished Service Award to five people who have demonstrated exceptional service to the community and Wyoming Seminary, or who have achieved significant accomplishments in their professions.

Among the recipients was Herbert Quick, Kunkle, retired Sem French teacher.

The Award is the highest honor bestowed by the Wyoming Seminary Board of Trustees on behalf of everyone associated with the school. It expresses appreciation for the life and example, sacrifices and devotion of those who are honored.

Misericordia plans sonography program

Beginning in September 2003 College Misericordia will start an 18-month certificate program in Diagnostic Medical Sonography (DMS), also known as ultrasound. The certificate program is designed for adult or non-traditional learners who possess the necessary pre-requisites along with an allied health credential such as a registered nurse, emergency medical technician, licensed practical nurse, or radiologic technologist. The program will offer convenient and predictable scheduling with alternating weekend classes and a week-day clinical component.

To help fund the program, the College has received an Allied Health Projects grant in the amount of $199,621 with $211,188 contingent on available government funding in 2003 and 2004. The family of the late Dr. Thomas E. Baker has established a sonography fund to help finance the program as well.

Currently there is a critical shortage of educated medical professionals in the sonography field. Sonographers perform work in various medical settings including hospitals, outpatient clinics and physician offices.

College Misericordia's Medical Imaging program is accredited by the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology (JRCERT), as well as by the Pennsylvania Department of Education. This instruction provides students with knowledge and practical skills necessary to assume positions in diagnostic radiology or pursue employment or certification in advanced imaging modalities.

For more information on the new sonography certificate program, contact Larree Brown, Adult Education, at 674-6451, toll free at 1-866-262-6363 or by e-mail at lbrown@misericordia.edu. More information is also available on the web site at www.misericordia.edu.
