Rotary brightens the season

The Dallas Rotary Club has made the season bright by lighting and decorating the Dallas triangle for the holidays. Even though it was a cold and blustery day, it did not diminish the spirits of the decorators. Dallas wins labor/management award

DALLAS — At the October meeting of the Dallas School Board, it was announced that the Dallas School District was the only district in the state to be nominated for and win the Governor's award for Labor and Management.

The award is given to entities, educational or business, where labor and management have a close and positive working relationship. Others nominated this year included companies such as Stroehman's Bakery, Ame's and Snyder's. Walter Glogowski of the PA State Education Association, who sits on the board of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Labor Management Council, nominated the district last year for being "a model district."

On September 18, Glogowski, school board member Thomas Russ, Assistant Superintendent Dr. Michael Speziale and Bill Wagner, President of the Dallas Education Association (teacher's union) traveled to Harrisburg to receive the award in a formal presentation followed by a reception.

"I'd like to congratulate Dallas School Board, and all the administrative staff for the relationship we have had at Dallas; we've had a great past 10 years," said Wagner.

"Recognition like this from the governor is held in high regard by the administration and school board. It's a great honor to be chosen as one of nine entities selected for their work in labor management," said Gil Griffiths, Dallas Superintendent of Schools.
