Food and fun

Students and administrators from Dallas and Lake-Lehman were treated to a cook-out at the awards presentation for the Back Mountain Cup. Lake-Lehman won the trophy this first year after starting out the fall sports season with seven wins before Dallas won the Old Shoe football game. Dallas nearly caught up over the winter, sweeping boys and girls basketball games, but the Black Knights put the victory on ice in the spring. While they were waiting for food, students played frisbee, above, or at least pretended to for the camera. From left, Lake-Lehman seniors Mike Rusonis, Matt Ide, Brian Cornia and Aaron Moyer. At left, Lake-Lehman students gathered at a table. From left, seated: Lisa Wasser, Betsy Pitcher. Standing: Megan DeCesaris, Tracey Hudak, Amy Ruda. Dallas was well-represented as well, including the three boys in the lower left photo. From left, Chuck Stajewski, Ryan Gryskewicz and Paul Douglas.

Dodgers 9, Yankees 1

PJ Stepanski shut down the Yankees, striking out seven and scattering five hits in the win. Chris McAndrew and Adam Kamus were the hitting stars for the Dodgers with two each. Adam Goeringer led the Yanks with two hits.

Dodgers 17, Indians 3

Corey Shaver allowed only one hit and struck out eight in picking up the win. Hayden Jenkins belted two hits for the Dodgers also. Dave Fetchko led the Indians with two hits.

athletic scholarships and sports injuries.

Some area parents see the organization as a good way to bring attention to female athletes, who often find themselves overlooked because of the popularity of men's sports.

"You can take talent and take potential in girls and maximize it," said Mary Ellen O'Brien, a Shavertown resident who has twin daughters in seventh grade. Both children are active in sports. O'Brien said she plans to urge them to take advantage of what the Society has to offer.

Besides the clinics and seminars, the Society's objectives include recognizing athletic achievement, providing opportunities for lifetime fitness and wellness activities for all ages, developing an appreciation of women's athletics, and encouraging camaraderie between diverse sport participants.

Pasqualichio said that in today's changing social climate, the benefits of being a part of an organization that promotes equality in athletics could ex-

Phillies 6, Reds 5

Carson Baker and Hunter Englehart held off the Reds in a close fought win. Ryan Naugle led the Phils with two hits, with teammate Scott Daube adding a hit and two runs, and Michael Ryan adding two hits. Stephen Oshemski had a triple and scored two runs for the Reds, and Nick Latosek added two hits in the loss.

Orioles 12, Cardinals 9

Ryan Urzen and Steve Meskers both homered as the O's beat the Cards. Meskers also struck out ten in the victory. Matt Bevan had two hits for the Cardinals.

A's 7, Giants 3

Derek Martin kept the Giants in check, striking out ten in the win. Andrew Besecker and Derek Martin each added two hits including a double, and Tyler Rice added two for the A's. Eric Cannon provided the offense for the Giants with two hits.

tend well beyond the playing field. She cited one example of how learning a sport and becoming good at it could help an individual succeed in the corporate world.

"The top female executives are realizing that most of the deals are done on the golf course," Pasqualichio said. "So if you don't know how to golf, you're going to be at a disadvantage."

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Women in Sport Society must complete the Society's membership application, which will be available at all Society events. Students also need the signature of a parent or guardian to be eligible for membership.

A one-year membership costs $10 for students or senior citizens, $15 for college students and $20 for adults. Membership fees must be paid in advance. Members will be entitled to participate in all Society events throughout their year-long membership.
