

Dallas

Dallas went ahead to stay 29 seconds before halftime on a 5-yard run by Harris. Kelly, an elusive runner, rushed for 60 of the 76 yards in that drive.

"He's a little unorthodox at times," Jackson said of Kelly, but he's a player."

In the second half, the Mountaineers held the Crusaders to just six offensive plays between the start of the third quarter and when Harris iced the game with a 3-yard run with 3:53 left.

"He ran the ball well and he played inside linebacker as well," Jackson said of Harris. "He wanted the end zone on that last score."

Coughlin drove to the Dallas 9, mostly on the scrambling of McCloskey, when the game was delayed because of lightning with 1:18 left. On the first play after the game resumed, Leo Ryan's run pulled the Crusaders within 21-14.

Coughlin then tried an onside kick in attempt to regain possession, but it was poorly executed and the ball went out of bounds. Dallas retained possession and ran out the clock.

on offense, but our defense saved us every time."

The second was senior running back Chad Derhammer. Although Derhammer fumbled twice, he carried the ball 23 times for 122 yards.

Nanticoke had plenty of opportunities. It started from its own 40 yard line or closer on three of four second-half possessions. The first two ended with a punt after just three plays. The third was Nanticoke's best chance of the game.

On its first offensive play of the fourth quarter, quarterback Mike Sarnack connected with a wide open Chris Ushinski for a 29-yard gain, the biggest of the day for the Trojans. They were unable to get another first down, but set up to attempt a 37-yard go-ahead field goal.

A delay-of-game penalty pushed Nanticoke back five yards, and Chris Dudeck's 42-yard attempt fell short.

The Trojans got the ball one more time, but again punted after just three plays. Lehman then rushed the ball nine consecutive times to run out the clock and sneak out of Nanticoke with a 2-0 victory.

Black Knights blank Coughlin in field hockey

By STEVE SEMBRAT For The Dallas Post

LEHMAN TWP. — Practicing against some of the best players in Pennsylvania is paying dividends for the Lake-Lehman field hockey team.

The benefits were evident on Wednesday as the Black Knights defeated Coughlin, 3-0, in a Wyoming Valley Conference interdivisional game.

Lehman junior Chrissie Kazmierski, a first-year starter at forward, broke a scoreless tie late in the first half. The Black Knights pulled away on second-half goals by junior midfielder Amanda Sagan and junior forward Allison Boris.

The score could have been closer had it not been for some outstanding stops by Lehman junior goalie Shannon Prescott, who made seven saves.

Last season, Prescott and Kazmierski were reserves to all-state players at Lehman who graduated. While players such as Prescott and Kazmierski didn't start a year ago, they practiced against the standouts of a team that won the PIAA Class 2A state title, and the workouts against the best then is now bringing out the best in them.

"That helps your team come along so quickly because you've had such great role models," Lehman coach Jean Lipski said. "It helps the kids step up when it is their turn."

The Black Knights weren't as dominant as the final score might suggest, as the contest featured quality play on the part of both teams.
