Black Knights lost a key cog in their backfield when rushing-machine Dave Harris graduated. Still, Langan has quite a bit of experience returning at the running back positions. He'll use a three-pronged assault that features juniors Brandon Burkhardt and Greg Pimm and senior Chad Derhammer.

OFFENSIVE LINE: The Black Knights have only one returning starter down in the

"We're a little inexperienced and young," Langan said. "Our offensive line has to develop."

DEFENSIVE LINE: The Black Knights have some experience up front. Pimm comes back at tackle. He's joined in the middle by Arnold. At the ends, McHugh and Gemberling, both returning starters, and Yankowski could all see action.

LINEBACKERS: Arcangeli and Burkhardt return on the inside. Derhammer and sophomore Josh Arnold flank them on the outside.

SECONDARY: Wren will man

the safety position, while Cragle, senior Ryan Besteder and Boyle handle the corners. Cragle represents the only returning defensive back.

OUTLOOK: Langan likes the effort his players put forth during the August double-sessions. The Black Knights hope they can translate that effort into wins this fall. But whether they do so may hinge on how quickly their offensive line develops and if their defense can keep the score close.
