

Holiday hoedown at Wycallis

The second grade class of Wycallis Elementary School, Dallas, recently entertained their parents and grandparents with their annual Hoedown. The show featured square dances, line dancing, and Western themed songs and skits.

In photos, clockwise from right: Looking out the school windows for their guests to arrive were Peter Kuritz and Kiera Gross; The entire second grade demonstrated their line dancing skill; Nora Tidey and Christopher Milligan promenade during the squares.

Dana Kinter wins Triple A Award

Dana Kinter, Lehman Township, is the recipient of the Triple A Award, it was announced by Gina Major Ackerman, owner and director of Major Performing Arts Center. The award is given annually to a student based on attitude, excellent class attendance and outstanding achievement in life and the performing arts. Dana is the daughter of Betsy and Tom Kinter. She studied dance and voice at Major Performing Arts for eight years, and serves as a teacher's assistant. She won numerous titles and awards in regional competitive talent events, and appeared in many musical theater productions, including title roles in "Hansel & Gretel," "The Little Mermaid" and "Cinderella" for Northeast Players and Back Mountain Youth Theater Co. She is a member of the Choral Society of Northeast Pennsylvania and a piano student. Dana is in the seventh grade at Lake-Lehman where she is a member of the chorus.

Service

tional "service above self." Joan Martin served three terms as president of the RotaryAnns, a service group of spouses affiliated with the Rotary. "We were a strong, wonderful group of women who managed to do some good things as well," she said.

"We started a wheelchair program, a shoe program for kids, a scholarship program for the Women with Children Program at College Misericordia, purchased furniture for the children's area of the Back Mountain Memorial Library, volunteered for Meals on Wheels and more."

The group recently disbanded because of declining membership, but she hopes it will be started again.

Eric Martin has been a Rotarian for 12 years and is the recent past president of the Dallas Club. "We grew up with Rotary," he said. "The annual conference was the highlight of our year as kids. We were good all year just to make sure we all got to go. It was a rare treat as children to go on this trip to various places every spring. And we were exposed early on to the idea of giving back to the community and the world."

Eric Martin was an exchange student and his family often hosted exchange students in their home as well.

Being a member of any group is one thing, but being its president is sometimes a lot different from what one would expect. "My year as president was a real eye opener for me," said Eric Martin. "There are so many aspects to Rotary and Rotary International. The Rotary Foundation is far reaching and its programs have accomplished such amazing objectives as helping to stamp out polio around the world in our lifetime."

wife, has been a Rotarian for three years and is the club's president this year. "I feel especially privileged to have met so many dedicated people who are doing such great things in our community," she said. "We are from many different vocations, but we are all like-minded in our desire to roll up our sleeves and work as a team. For me it has been a growing experience, and I am doing things I never thought I was capable of doing."

While driving along the highway, you may have spotted signs indicating that the Rotary, Lions or Kiwanis meet at a certain time and at a certain place. "Our Rotary sign is your open invitation to stop in and be our guest for our Thursday evening meeting at 6:30 p.m.," said Karen Martin. "We'll give you more information on what Rotary is all about and the ways you can volunteer and get involved. If we're not there some evening, it's because we are out cleaning up the highway or setting up or cleaning up at the fair or the auction."

Karen Martin encourages couples, like herself and her husband, to join Rotary together. "So many times our activities take us apart from one another. We have two couples in our Dallas Rotary Club who have made it a family affair."
