

College tennis courts are open for public use

College Misericordia recently completed construction on a tennis complex on campus. The six-court facility is adjacent to the Anderson Center and is available for public use. The project was partially funded by a gift from M&T Foundation and a grant from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that was facilitated by State Senator Charles Lemmond. The courts are open from 8 a.m. to dusk. For more information, contact the College Misericordia athletic department at 674-6294.

New Surveying/Civil Engineering degree at Penn State Wilkes-Barre

The College of Engineering at Penn State University has recently approved a new concurrent Surveying and Civil Engineering degree. This 5-year program will allow students to earn a bachelor of science degree in Surveying and Civil Engineering. Its graduates can become licensed both as a professional land surveyor and professional engineer in all 50 states.

"By obtaining both degrees, graduates of this program expand their career opportunities by being able to function more flexibly in engineering and surveying firms where both areas of expertise are often in demand," said Dr. Charles D. Ghilani, professor of engineering and Surveying program chair at Penn

State Wilkes-Barre. "We expect that demand for the initially limited number of graduates in this program will encourage attractive starting salaries."

Students enrolled in this program will spend three years at Penn State Wilkes-Barre, then finish their final two years at the University Park campus. The Wilkes-Barre campus has offered the 4-year degree in surveying since 1994. Their graduates are highly sought after and, in the last 10 years, the campus has boasted a 100 percent job placement rate for surveying graduates. For more information, call the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Admissions Office at 675-9238 or e-mail: wbadmissions@psu.edu.
