DMS science fair winners

The annual science fair was held recently at the Dallas Middle School. Students in eighth grade science classes participated in the fair. They competed in the areas of life, physical, environmental and behavioral sciences. There were over 200 projects entered into the science fair. The projects were judged on many aspects: creativity, originality, data collection, conclusion, written, oral, and visual presentation. The projects were evaluated by volunteer judges. The judges were professors from the local colleges, Dallas science faculty members and administrators. Winners were announced at an evening award ceremony.

Life science winners were: Jordan Thimot, first place; Virginia Reinert, second place; Ally Evans, third place; and honorable mention went to Mallory Kern.

In the physical science category, the winners were, Matthew Glicini, first place; Ilya Voladorsky, second place; Peter Tomczyk, third place; and Aaron Hogan, honorable mention.

Dasa wins Sem's Dean Prize

Wyoming Seminary graduate Naveen Dasa of Shavertown received the Willis L. Dean Citizenship Prize during the school's 160th Commencement.

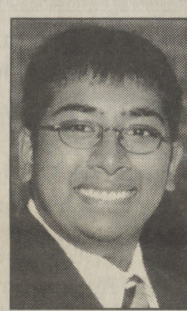

The award is given to a senior boy and girl who most closely approach the ideal Wyoming Seminary graduate in scholastic achievement, good citizenship and participation in extracurricular activities.

Dasa, son of Drs. Dasa and Bhagyalakshmi Satyam, was named to Cum Laude during Commencement. He also received the Charles L. March Opinator Award in recognition of outstanding contributions to the school newspaper The Opinator, the Spencer Bible Prize for academic excellence in Bible and religion classes, and the President's Educational Excellence Award, prior to Commencement.

He served as a writer, layout editor and editor-in-chief of The Opinator, and participated in the International Club, French Club, Model UN, Junior Leadership Wilkes-Barre, Science Research Group, Blue Key, stage crew and chorale.

He also was named to the Dean's list and served as vice-president and officer of his class and was a member of the tennis team.

Anson awarded Merit Scholarship

Rachael Anson of Noxen, a 2004 Wyoming Seminary graduate, has been named a recipient of a 2004 National Merit Scholarship, said Dr. William R. Summerhill, Academic Dean of the Upper School.

Anson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Anson, received a Merit Scholarship from Denison University where she will begin her college studies this fall.

More than 1.3 million students in over 20,000 U.S. high schools entered the 2004 Merit Program when they were juniors. Fewer than one percent of the nation's high school seniors were named Finalists on a state representational basis. About 8,000 of the Finalists become Merit Scholarship winners.

Joanna Smith attends business forum

Joanna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Smith of Shavertown, attended the Future Business Leaders of America National Leadership Conference on July 12-15 in Denver. At the conference, Joanna will compete in the impromptu speaking event, and will serve as a conference delegate.

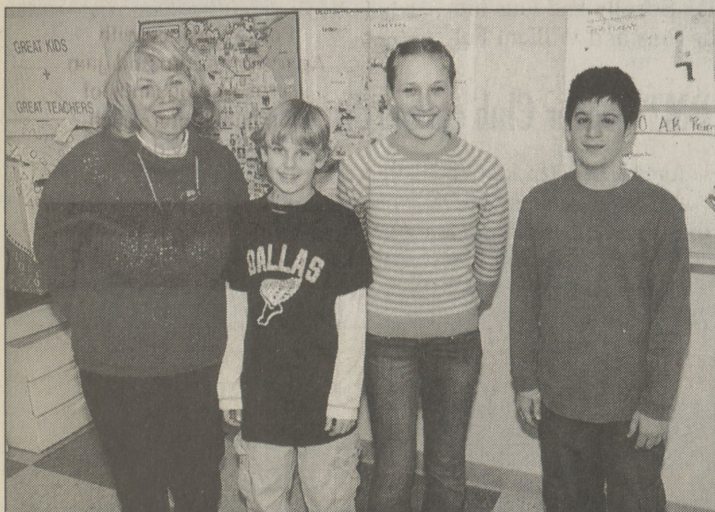

A high-honor roll student at Bishop O'Reilly High School, Kingston, she has many interests and is involved in many school activities. Aside from being a member of the FBLA for three years, she is also a member of the school's forensics team (with which she qualified twice in state and three times in national competition).

In addition, she is a member of the National Honor Society, Glee Club, Chamber Choir, Folk Group, school newspaper, and school musical. This year, she participated in the PMEA District 9 Chorus Festival and the Region 4 All-State Chorus Festival. Moreover, she has been nominated as a Diocesan Scholar, for the National Student Youth Leadership Conference, and has been named to Who's Who in American High School Students. She is a member of Gate of Heaven Parish in Dallas.
