

2004 Dallas Harvest Festival
 Sunday September 19, 1 PM to 6 PM

- Contributors to the Festival
- College Misericordia
 - Penn State Cooperative Extension
 - Dallas Borough
 - Mayor's Club
 - Hilberts Equipment
 - Lewith & Freeman
 - Emanuel Bus
 - Personal Care Home Health
 - The Meadows Campus
 - A. R. Fitch & Sons
 - Rose Hoover Signs
 - Erin Dorrance
 - Saint Therese's Church
 - Precision Graphics
 - Dallas Fire & Ambulance
 - Suburban News
 - TimesLeader
 - Dallas Post
 - Channel 28
 - Thomas VanHorn
 - Back Mountain Prof Bus Assn
 - Charlie Hayes & Company
 - Dallas Borough Road Dept
 - Marge Bart
 - Penn State Master Gardeners
 - Herbert Flyte
 - Carroll Construction
 - Wilbert Houck
 - Dr. Alan Boonin
 - Senator Charles Lemmond
 - Dallas Visioning Committee
 - Dallas Post Office
 - A's Cutting Crew

Festival

(continued from page 1)

ing the auction along with Michael Klug and Ernie Ashbridge.

Some of the special items available will be a Penn State University chair, a limited edition bank fashioned from a Post Office lock box, a reverse painting, a collector edition Holiday Angel Barbie in its original box, antique twin rope beds, linens and beautiful glassware.

"We also have a dollhouse that will make a great gift for some lucky little, or big, girl," said Boback. Block worthy donations are still being accepted.

Live entertainment will go on throughout the day of the festival on the stage near the intersection of Main Street and Memorial Highway. "We'll have lots of seating available," said Manzoni. "That was one of the suggestions we got last year and we're going to have picnic tables and chairs available wherever we have room."

Children will have fun as the Penn State 4-H Club will offer pony rides and fire engines will also be available for rides. There will be a petting zoo, face painting, balloons, cotton candy and lemonade.

Parking will be available at the Twin Stacks Center, with buses traveling back and forth all afternoon. Twin Stacks Center is also participating in the event. "We're having an open house from 1 to 6 p.m. and every tenant will be giving out something," said Flo Banta. "There will be raffles and gift certificates and Stax & Co. restaurant will have live entertainment."

Parking is also available at the Dallas Shopping Center, Commonwealth Telephone Co. on Lake Street, the Back Mountain Little League complex, and the library. Free shuttle buses will rotate throughout those five parking facilities all afternoon.

The Harvest Festival will spill out onto Lake Street, where a tour of historic sites will be available. Walkers can also get a glimpse into the future by hiking a roughed-out area of an "urban greenway" along Toby Creek.

"We'll have people walk from our tent at the old Sunoco station along the creek up to the back of Commonwealth Telephone Co.," said Judy Rimple, president and founding member of Anthracite Scenic Trails Association. "It is strictly a rough draft, but people with vision will be able to see it."

The ultimate plan is for trails to extend to College Misericordia.

"People can pick up information at our tent and we are still looking for volunteers for that day," said Rimple. For more details, call Mark Albrecht at 696-3409.

For those who take advantage of the walking tour and hike, The Old House Café will be giving out free water. They will also have dessert items available for purchase.

Festival vendor and activity guide

LOCATION	VENDOR	CATEGORY	LOCATION	VENDOR	CATEGORY
M32	Back Mountain Bloomers	Crafts & Gifts	M41	GEM Therapeutics	Health Care
G8,G9	Back Mt. Feed & Seed	Crafts & Gifts	M43	Keystone Garden Estates	Health Care
M23	Bamboo Designs	Crafts & Gifts	M42	Personal Care Home Health	Health Care
G15,G16	Discovery Toys/UPS Store	Crafts & Gifts	M4	United States Postal Service	Health Care
M14	Emily Machovec	Crafts & Gifts	M1	College Misericordia	Cub & Boy Scouts
M25	Farm Basket	Crafts & Gifts	M27	North Branch Land Trust	Penn State Wilkes-Barre
G37, G38	Holiday Treasures	Crafts & Gifts	M11	Chiropractic & Rehab Associates	Prince of Peace Episcopal Church
M30	Kimberly's Floral	Crafts & Gifts	M7	Cartoon & Animation & Photos By Jan	"JOYA" Joanna Siegel
M13	Marilyn Shaffner	Crafts & Gifts	M20	Dancing Wolf Designs	Jewelry
A3	Mattern's	Crafts & Gifts	M31	Outrageous	Jewelry
G17	Rita Ann Busch	Crafts & Gifts	M10	Valentine's	Jewelry
M18	T. P. Cara	Crafts & Gifts	M35	Ochman's Coin & Jewelry	Jewelry
G7	The Country Frog	Crafts & Gifts	M19	Back Mountain Memorial Library Auction	"Mary Kay"
G25	Apple Tree Bakery	Food	G0	A & M Sportsweat	Merchandise
M3, M5	Ayers Orchard	Food	M34	Hilbert's Equipment	Merchandise
G26,G27	Boy Scout Troop 281	Food	G24	Dallas Baptist Church	Miscellaneous
G14	Brace's Orchard	Food	A2
G4-G6	Carl & Rita Zekoski	Food
G2,G3	Cathy's Bread	Food
A4	Charles S. Watkins	Food
M36	Covered Wagon Produce	Food
G28, G29	Creekside Farm & Nursery	Food
G21-G23	O.E.S. Bldg. Association	Food
M15	Dallas HS Field Hockey	Food
M29	Dallas Lions Club	Food
M6	Darling & Sons	Food
G19,G20	Endless Mtns. Mustard Co.	Food
G1	Golomb's Farms & Nursery	Food
G32-G35	Hillside Farms, Inc.	Food
M37	IGOURMET.COM	Food
M26	JRs Texas Style BBQ	Food
G10-G12	Mayor's Club	Food
M39	Metz Enterprises	Food
M12	Mr. P's Potato Pancakes	Food
M38	Park Market	Food
G36	PSU Master Gardeners and 4-H of Luz. Cty.	Food
G30, G31	Prissy's of Vidalia	Food
M24	Rosalie Berezich	Food
M8	Rotary Club of Dallas	Food
A1	Skyline Sales	Food
M17	Stax & Co.	Food
M21	Story's Concessions	Food
G18	Webby's Concessions	Food
A6	Dallas Family Practice	Health Care
M9

Dallas Days and Harvest Festival event schedule

Fri., Sept. 17: 'Wordhorde' at the library 7-9 p.m.. Sign up beginning Mon., Sept. 13

Sat., Sept. 18, Children's festival 1-4 p.m., College Misericordia, sponsored by Back Mt. Business and Professional Ass'n

Homecoming dance, Irem Temple Country Club, 7 p.m.-midnight

Sun., Sept. 19, Harvest Festival 1-6 p.m., Main Street

'Kiss the Pig' ballots now on sale

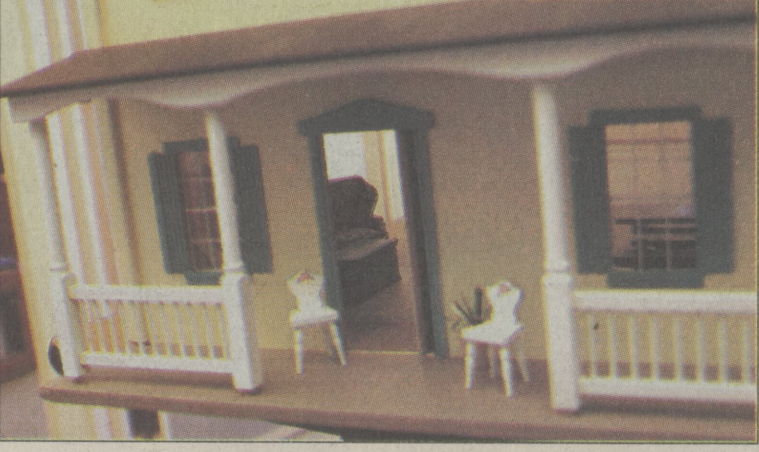

Apple pie baking contest, children's activities, food, vendors, farmers market, historic walking tours, "urban greenway" preview

Library mini-auction, 1 p.m., in the Dallas Borough public works garage.

For information, call 675-1389

Auction

(continued from page 1)

completely taken apart and restored by Maryan Daily for this auction. "It was fun. I like to work on dollhouses. As a kid I had one that was homemade, it really was a big wooden box," says Daily.

Daily's reputation for hand-painting and restoring antiques is well-known to fans of the library's summer auction, where she often contributes her restored pieces.

Daily has put 60 to 70 hours into this dollhouse restoration. She has painted, hand decorated, and furnished all the rooms and created some original furniture. Notable are the plant stands on the front porch and the art pieces on the dollhouse walls.

FOR THE POST/CHARLOTTE BARTIZEK

This dollhouse will be a featured item at the mini-auction. It was purchased by the library at a local estate sale, and has been restored and decorated by Maryan Daily. Above, how it looked when purchased. At top, detail of the front porch, complete with furniture.

Cooperative Extension helps plan, execute festival

The Dallas Harvest Festival Committee of the Dallas Community Visioning Program welcomes the assistance of the Penn State Cooperative Extension Northeast Regional Office in the planning of the second annual festival.

Regional director Michael McDavid and staff assistant Mary Manzoni will again help plan the farmers market, which will take place behind the Dallas Borough municipal building and Citizens Bank. Manzoni will also coordinate vendor and producer participation for the festival.

Penn State Master Gardeners, under the direction of Mary Pat Appel, will join the festival again this year, and will provide consultations and answer horticulture-related questions. The Master Gardeners will also announce the winner of the second Dallas Visioning Window Box Competition that is currently taking place among a number of downtown Dallas merchants.

Penn State Cooperative Extension Agriculture and 4-H Educator Donna Grey, and 4-H Educator Marge Bart will provide a variety of 4-H activities for children of all ages, including pony rides and a petting zoo, both to be located in the farmers market area. A highlight of the petting zoo is sure to be "Rocco Rooter" the potbelly pig.

Art show to benefit needy animals

Local artists including those in their "golden years," young adults, teens, and "little artists" will participate in an art show and fund raiser for needy animals. All of the artists are students of Sue Hand. Their artwork will be on display on Sept. 19 at Sue Hand's Imagery, Main Street, Dallas and will be available for sale.

All of Hand's personal artwork in her Main Street studio will also be included in the fundraiser. A variety of subject matter will be presented; still lifes, animal portraits, seascapes, and detailed floral illustrations. The artworks will be produced in a variety of mediums, including graphite pencil, colored pencil, watercolor, pastel, acrylic and others.

Members of the Pennsylvania En Plein Air Society will also be painting on location at the corner of Main Street and Huntsville Road and offering their artworks for sale.

The public is invited to view the art exhibit and sale on Sunday, Sept. 19 from 1 to 5 p.m. at Sue Hand's Imagery, 35 Main St., Dallas. A portion of all proceeds from any artwork sale from the Imagery or the Pennsylvania En Plein Air Society members will benefit the SPCA of Luzerne County.

125 years

(continued from page 1)

and have it cancelled in black or red ink with the special cancellation.

"It's a collector's item," said Kristen Tucker, Dallas postmaster. "It was popular last year and people from all over the country will request it. As long as it has a stamp on it, like a post card or an envelope, we can cancel it."

This year's pictorial will have the same design as last year's but will also have a 125th anniversary banner on it. "We'll change it a little bit every year," said Tucker. "That increases its value as a collectible item."

The Post Office booth will have other special retail items and specialty stamps available for purchase.