Assistance available for dry-hydrant installation

The Pocono Northeast Resource Conservation & Development Council is currently accepting applications from interested municipalities, fire companies and landowners for assistance with the installation of dry-hydrants for fire protection.

The council is a non-profit organization that is striving to enhance and improve the ecological, cultural and economic characteristics of the Pocono Northeast Region through various projects and programs. The council is currently looking to assist local communities with installing dry-hydrants for fire protection within the council's area, which includes Luzerne County.

A dry-hydrant is a permanently installed self-draining stand-pipe system with a hard suction hose connection that a fire truck can attach its fire hoses to in order to withdraw water to fill its tank for fighting fires. The water source where dry-hydrants could be located could be a pond, lake, or stream depending on certain site characteristics.

The council will assist the local communities by providing dry-hydrant components worth $200, and up to $300 for additional materials needed towards the installation of the hydrant. The council will also provide a survey and design of the dry-hydrant installation site to the entity installing the hydrant.

Anyone interested in participating with the Pouncil on the dry-hydrant program may contact the council office at (570) 282-8732, ext. 4 for an application. Applications will be accepted until April 29, 2005.
