David Paul

Popular guitarist to perform at College Misericordia

David Paul, one of the world's premier finger style guitarists, will perform live in the Walsh Auditorium on the College Misericordia campus on Saturday, April 16, beginning at 8 p.m.

Paul's influence comes from Chet Atkins, considered by most in the music industry to be the master of finger style guitar playing. Many consider Paul's playing style to be similar to Atkins', but with a flair and originality all its own. Paul writes, arranges and produces everything himself, and his originals sound much like Atkins, but yet they aren't.

David Paul's performance at College Misericordia is part of a nationwide tour.

Tickets are $10 and $15 and can be purchased in advance by calling the box office, 674-6719. The $15 ticket price includes an invitation to meet David Paul during a private reception prior to the concert.
