

FOR THE POST/CHARLOTTE BARTIZEK

Safe at third

Toni Miller of Lake-Lehman reached third base safely, as Wyoming Seminary's Olivia Marquart reached for the ball during a junior high softball game held April 26.

items also are being used as targets, causing an extensive litter problem, not to mention unsafe conditions for other shooters."

The Northeast Region Office maintains seven shooting ranges throughout its 13-county coverage area. These facilities are maintained by land management employees and open year round for public use.

"We're asking anyone who witnesses any unlawful or unsafe act on this, or any other of our public ranges to call us immediately, Larnerd said. "We need the assistance of sportsmen and sportswomen to help us apprehend the individuals responsible for these senseless acts.

"Regulations are posted at all agency-owned ranges, and shooters are expected to abide by these rules," Larnerd said. "Those who don't, will be cited and required to pay for damages they caused to the range. They may even lose their hunting and trapping privileges within the state for at least one year."

Shooting ranges on State Game Lands are purchased and maintained from the sale of hunting and trapping licenses and with federal grant monies from the Pitman-Robertson Act, which is funded by a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition.

"With the current financial strain the agency is experiencing, our budgetary spending for maintaining ranges is extremely tight," said Tim Conway, Northeast Region Information and Education Supervisor. "There is barely enough money to keep these ranges open through routine maintenance. If this vandalism continues, we may be forced to shut ranges down entirely. This is something we'd rather not do, and that's why we're asking hunters to help us put a stop to this vandalism."

Anyone with information may call the Northeast Region office at 675-1143 or 1-877-877-9357, or send an e-mail to TCONWAY@state.pa.us

U-11 girls travel tryouts

Tryouts for the Back Mountain Spirit U-11 girls travel soccer team will be held Friday, May 6 and Wednesday, May 11, at 5:30 p.m. each day, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Dallas. Field players and experienced goalkeepers are welcome. For more information, call Ken Greenwood at 675-2759 or 814-5884.

Huntsville golfer gets another ace

Huntsville Gold Club member George Speace II of Shavertown on April 23 scored his second hole-in-one at the club. He aced the 195-yard 15th hole using a 3 wood. The shot was witnessed by Glenn Weaver. Speace's first ace came in 2001 at the third hole.
