Seminary science standouts

Wyoming Seminary Science Research Group students recently earned awards for their research projects at regional and state competitions. The students presented oral reports of their research to panels of judges and other students.

At the recent Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science (PJAS), Northeast Regional Meeting, held at King's College, three students received first place awards: sophomore Hou-An Chen, Koahsiung, Taiwan, R.O.C.; junior Er Fang Yuan, Kingston; and freshman Dominick Trombetta, Shavertown. Yuan received the Excellence Award in Botany and a perfect score. Trombetta received the Excellence Award in Microbiology and perfect score.

Four students also participated in the Pennsylvania Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at Pennsylvania State University, held in State College. Senior Andrew O'Hara, Dallas, received second place in Life Sciences. Members of the Sem Science Research Group gathered during a recent Science Presentation, in which they presented their research projects to the Sem community.
